Residents named in senior center suit

by MARY FOLEY
Lakeland Newspapers
The Lake County Zoning Board of Appeals (LCZBA) and 49 residents of Antioch Township discovered they were named defendants in a Complaint and Administrative Review. The action arose out of the Lake County Zoning Board's failure to approve the proposed Country Inn development.

The plaintiffs of the lawsuit, David and Deborah Larson and Virginia Ross had asked the board to approve the variances that would allow the building of a group dwelling residence for senior citizens on a location that is unavailable for sewer hook-ups. At the present time, only single family residences may use septic systems on land that is zoned (Continued on page 7)

Christmas cheer comes to town

by CLAUDIA M. LENART
Lakeland Newspapers
Antioch residents braved freezing temperatures to kick-off the holiday season with a parade, tree lighting and other events in downtown Antioch.
Claude LeMere, community development director, said feedback has been positive for Antioch's first big event in the redevelopment plan.
"I think it went very well. I canvassed the merchants to find out how they did and about 70 percent said they did exceptionally well. It appears to have worked," said LeMere.
Antioch's family Christmas tree has been decorated with handmade ornaments. Merchants finished decorating their windows over the weekend and the contest was to be judged later in the week.
Many residents showed up for the tree lighting to sing carols and enjoy hot chocolate and cider, compliments of village hall. Santa topped off the event by making an appearance via the village hall roof and handing out candy to the children.

VFW names essay winners

by MARY FOLEY
Lakeland Newspapers
The Antioch Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 4551 announced the winners of the Voice of Democracy contest. Lauren Burke, an Antioch Community High School sophomore, was the first place winner. Senior Leslie Ann Beckey came in second place and Josalyn Marie O'Higgins placed third.
The Voice of Democracy contest is an audio essay program where sophomores, juniors, and seniors are given an opportunity to express their opinions concerning their responsibility to the United States. This year's theme was "My Commitment to America."
Students who enter the contest have an opportunity to win the national first prize of $20,000, a second prize of $15,000, down to 30th prize of $1,000 in scholarships. Burke's essay will be judged in the district competition on Saturday and then hopefully it will move up to the national competition.

The VFW co-chairpersons for the event were Stan Jendras and Elaine O'Donnell, of the woman's auxiliary. Presentation of the awards is planned before the regular meeting on Dec. 8 at 7 p.m. at the VFW Post on North Avenue.
Burke, in addition to moving into the district competition, will receive $100 from the Antioch Post. Both Beckey and O'Higgins will receive $75 each.

Family has Hollywood connection with Rudy

WAUCONDA—A man the whole country knows as Rudy has some local ties in this area, with one of his sisters saying the whole family is very proud of him. Rose Haiduke, younger sister of Daniel "Rudy" Ruettiger, said he had been working on the story of his life himself before approaching a Hollywood screenwriter to do the job. Rudy's family filmed a scene in the film which was later cut, and got to hobnob with stars Sean Astin and Ned Beatty. "When he told us, I was totally shocked," said Megan Haiduke, Rose's eldest daughter.

Mayor wants to shut down fashion show

ROUND LAKE PARK—Mayor Charlene Beyer is trying to get a fashion show which is held at the County Lounge to be stopped because she feels it violates three county ordinances and residents and business people have complained to her. She said the village attorney is forming a legal opinion on the show. Owner Dale Dickens said there are no nudity in the show, he hasn't received complaints about the show. The board is likely to take up the issue again in the Dec. 6 board meeting.

Assessor elect wants her office expanded

LAKE VILLA TOWNSHIP—Kathleen Kane said the assessors office needs more staff and room to handle the upsurge in growth in the township. The township has added over 15 million in property this year and 7 million last year. Township Supervisor Sue Hanson said the board will consider the entire needs of the township employees and the board if space is to be added. Hanson said since the levy has been approved there doesn't appear to be funds available expand this year.

Gurnee man may face prison in dual fatality

by ALEC JUNG
Lakeland Newspapers

An alleged drunk driver was indicted on two charges of reckless homicide in Lake County Court.

Benjamin Tilton, 36, of Gurnee, was arraigned for being responsible for the death of Lupe Albright 69, of Lake Villa and Wilma Turner, 68 of Round Lake. On Nov. 6, his vehicle crashed into the vehicle driven by Turner on Washington Street, west of Interstate 94.

This is not Tilton's first arrest for driving while intoxicated. He had a history of drunk driving arrests, according to Gurnee Police.

Tilton has a possibility of getting two to five years in prison if convicted of the offenses according to prosecutor Chuck Johnson of Lake County State's Attorney's Office. He said it is also possible Tilton can get probation depending on how the judge sentences the case.

Tilton had a breathalyzer reading of .20 according to Johnson. Johnson said

Smejkal hopes to end salary controversy

FOX LAKE—Fox Lake Elementary School District Superintendent Art Smejkal handed over documents to Lake County Sheriff's Department investigator Dan Colin and said he hopes the controversy over his salary will soon be put behind him. Smejkal said he met with Colin and another detective at the Waukegan office in which he "gave them all of the information I had" regarding discrepancies over his salary contract. In November, a longtime school board member asked the States Attorney's office to investigate Smejkal, claiming the school director was collecting an unauthorized salary increase.

Car chase lasts over 100 miles

ROUND LAKE BEACH—A car chase of a stolen car suspect spanned 100 miles, involved police departments in Lake County, McHenry County and Woolworth County before ending 40 minutes later in Woolworth County. James Marshall, 23, of Round Lake Beach, apparently stole a vehicle from a body shop in Lake Villa and was being chased by a Round Lake Beach officer the next day. The chase took the vehicle to Grayslake in the South the Genoa City Wisc. in the north. Marshall was finally caught when the tires of the vehicle were flat and a Woolworth County unit could bump his car off the road.

Central Park site selected for library

GRAYSLAKE—The Grayslake Area Public Library board unanimously approved the Central Park site for the new library. There is no estimate at this time when the construction will begin.

Residents named defendants in suit

ANTIOCH—The Lake County Zoning Board of Appeals and 49 Grass Lake residents have found themselves named as defendants in a Complaint in Administrative Review. The plaintiffs, David and Deborah Larson and Virginia Ross brought this action after being denied several variances from the board. The Larsons and Ross needed the variances in order to build a group dwelling senior center on Grass Lake Road in unincorporated Antioch. The residents were included in the suit because they testified at the board hearing and, according to the plaintiffs, became a "party to the action."

the state will continue to build on its case.

The trial is scheduled for Jan. 18 and the pre-trial is scheduled for Jan. 3.

Gurnee Police say they have given prosecutors a good case. "We already have the evidence from the first fatality. It applies to the second as well," Officer Taylor Mirure said.

Albright and Turner were active members of Calvary Presbyterian Church in Round Lake. Turner was a church elder, was responsible for the financial records and bookkeeping of the church. She was a former village clerk of Round Lake Park and was retired from the Round Lake Area Park District as a financial secretary.

Albright sang lead soprano in the church choir. She was an alternate in the Women's Presbyterian and a founding member of the congregation.

Tilton was released on $20,000 bond. He was able to post 10 percent of the required $200,000.

LHS coach resigns after mock shooting

LIBERTYVILLE—LHS head coach Dale Christensen resigned after a "motivational exercise" literally backfired on him before an emotionally charged playoff game. Apparently trying to inspire his players before the game, Christensen staged a fight between two students that ended in a mock shooting, sending some students running for cover and others calling the police to report the alleged gunplay.

District opens third school despite continuing strike

NORTH CHICAGO—When 500 students filed into their classrooms at Novak-King Middle School Wednesday, school officials came one step closer to their goal of systematically reopening all the District 187 schools. Three of the district's eight schools are now open and approximately 25 percent of all students have returned to classes, according to District 187 business manager Martin McConahay. Hart and Greenbay schools opened before the Thanksgiving holiday. Two other elementary schools and a middle school remain closed, but McConahay said he hopes to have another one open by next week although he will not say which school may open.

Road extension bid hit for finances

WADSWORTH—A study to determine if York House Road should be extended by three-quarters of a mile was criticized for its cost and usefulness by residents and elected officials. Lake County Division of Transportation hosted a six-hour open house at St. Mark's Lutheran Church to give information on the study. By 7 p.m., the crowd had swelled to dozens, some members of Citizens for a Better County (CFBC).

SAVE YOUR FAMILY TIME AND MONEY

Do you know what "probate" is? It is the court process by which debts are paid and assets are distributed to heirs.

In Illinois, probate is required when the assets total over $50,000. The probate process can be quite costly, reducing the amount of assets that heirs receive. Attorney's fees, court costs and executor's fees can reduce assets that go to the heirs by as much as 10%. There is also a time delay, because the minimum amount of time that an estate would be tied up in probate court in Illinois is six months, but normally probate takes nine to twelve months, and sometimes longer.

What can you do now so that your loved ones can avoid the costly and frustrating probate process? You can attend a FREE ESTATE PLANNING SEMINAR and learn how a living trust can work for your family. A living trust can be defined in simple terms as a will substitute, one that allows your heirs to avoid meeting a probate judge. As the trustee (financial manager) of your trust, you can continue to do the same things you did before the trust existed, such as buy, sell, or give away the trusts' assets. You set up your living trust according to your desires. You are in complete control.

When you consider the cost of a will and the fees involved in probate, as compared to setting up a living trust, the trust is a much more reasonable choice. It saves not only money, but time. Your heirs will not have to wait six, nine, or twelve months to receive what you have left them.

Leaf law

There ought to be a law in Antioch against people who let leaves accumulate so that they do not have to bag them. The wind then blows the leaves onto other people's property after they have their yards all raked up.

Brown not Smith

Congratulations to Sheriff Grinnell for moving Willie Smith the undersheriff. He should now put the most qualified person in that job, Harry Brown former commander of the marine unit.

Happy about the removal

Hooray to Clint Grinnell for removing Willie Smith. I am sure that if he looks around Grinnell will be able to find the right person for the job within the department.

Enough with the Kennedys

Congratulations to Lakeland Newspapers. They had the common sense and dignity not to join in the mad band wagon that all of the TV, radio, and other newspapers in not commemorating the anniversary of the death of JFK. While Kennedy's death was a tragic event in this country's history, he was certainly a mediocre president who bumbled his only chance for success in the Bay of Pigs. He has gone down in history as a martyr not because he was a great president but because he was shot. I am sick of turning on the TV and seeing yet another Kennedy special. It is time for all of the newspapers to take Lakeland Newspapers approach in saying it is time to shut up about JFK.

Animals not kids

I can't understand why the people of Antioch would pass a referendum for the forest preserve and not the high school education fund. Aren't children as important as the wildlife? Hopefully, the new school board will be able to help. The first order of business should be to hire a new principal and superintendent. People who care about Antioch.

Good work

I want to say three cheers for Claude LeMere. He has done more for Antioch in the time he has been here than anyone I can remember. Keep up the good work.

Get some exercise

In regards to "Dogs bark", I do not know where this woman comes off thinking that she has the right to leave her dogs in her yard for exercise. She is leaving them out for 10 to 12 hours everyday. I think that is more than enough exercise. I think the problem, Madame, is that you need to get a little exercise and walk your dog. I think it is totally cruel and outrageous to leave your pet outside in this weather. You should get yourself a leash, lady.

Find it yourself

To all the adults in Grayslake that are saying that teenagers are causing vandalism and getting drunk, they should find something for us to do. There is nothing to do in Grayslake for teenagers. There are parks for little kids. Find us a place and maybe we wouldn't be disappointing you.

No thanks here

I want to say thanks to all of you who did not stop for the car accident Nov. 19 on Wilson Road. My niece and her friends had to walk bleeding and try to find help. I hope you people never had a loved one in an accident because as they say what goes around comes around. Thanks.

Happy holidays, not

This is for that dude, "Lonely." Get a life.

Editorial note: Dear reader, it was not a dude, it was a dudette.

Must be kidding

I go to Grayslake High School. The residents of Grayslake are going to have to face the fact there are a lot of kids in school who smoke pot and do drugs. Just let us do it, leave us alone, and let us have our fun. There is nothing wrong with marijuana. It will not hurt us, legalize it.

Barney bombs

This is for anyone who has purchased a Barney Backpack. If the purchase was made a couple of months ago, there is a recall of those backpacks due to the lead content in the zippers. Can you even believe that (Continued on page 18)

COURAGE to hold next meeting in Lake Villa

by MARY FOLEY
Lakeland Newspapers

On Tuesday, Dec. 7, the Community Outreach Uniting Residents Against Gang Environment (COURAGE) will meet at the Lake Villa Library at 7 p.m. Topics for this meeting include 1994 goals and objectives for the organization.

COURAGE is a community group task force dedicated to the education, prevention and intervention of gangs in Lake County. Lake Villa, Antioch, Grayslake, and Lindenhurst pool their resources to stem the increasing flow of gang activity.

All residents are invited to attend, and in particular, youths 6th through 12th grade are being invited to participate. For more information call Sgt. Kevin Klahs at 356-5488. The library is located at 1001 E. Grand Ave. in Lake Villa, across from the intersection of Deep Lake Road and Route 132.

Parents may wonder how they can determine whether or not their child is a gang member. According to "Gang Information, What to Look For," published by the Lake County State's Attorney, gang members have developed many ways to identify themselves to each other.

While the color of the cap or hat generally does not mean much, if the cap is pointed to the left or right may be significant. According to the article many gang members like to wear expensive "Starter" team jackets, tattoo gang symbols on their bodies, draw gang graffiti on their clothing and school books, have gang insignias cut into their scalps, engage in elaborate hand signals, wear buttons and jewelry with a gang insignia, or have a pant leg rolled up on the left or right side.

The article cautions that many of the gang identifiers are innocent in themselves and that parents should look for a combination of them before making any kind of judgment.

If you think that your child is in a gang, the article suggests several ways to deal with the problem. Number one is to talk with your child about your suspicion. Parents are encouraged to ask for help using any of the excellent community resources available including contacting the COURAGE group. Local police departments may also be able to help by talking with the child and showing him or her that it is dangerous to belong to a street gang.

Comical day

Did you ever have one of those days when you could not put two thoughts or two words together that made any sense? On this particular day at Camp Crayon, I was definitely not of sound mind. To say that I experienced just a few "outer body experiences" is an understatement. When I constantly forgot the words and melodies to several camp songs, left out a complete second verse of another, and instructed Miss Mary to put a fat marker cap on a skinny marker, she (Miss Mary) knew her work was cut out for her.

She immediately stepped in to fill in the gaps and believe you me there were many. In a feeble attempt to ascertain who brought the assigned treat on this same mindless day, I meandered over to the door that holds our daily treat calendars. Once there, I began to stare blankly at the posted calendars for November and December. As I stood in my stooper, I remember thinking something sent me to the doorway.

I noticed months of November and December hanging before me and was trying to decide which of the two should mean something to me. Somewhere in the recess of my mind, I was directed to look closely at November. I was just about to solve the mystery of the correct day of the week and actual date when I heard Miss Mary quietly state the child's name who had brought the treats. I began to laugh, realizing Miss Mary had zeroed in on my blank stare and diplomatically stepped in with a solution. I thanked her for her assistance and went over to tell Miss Lois which child was responsible for the treats.

They were tiny, peanut-butter filled crackers and Miss Lois asked how many should be given to each child. Finally an easy question. I indicated six to eight. She then asked how "he" should pass them out (meaning using his hands or a paper cup). When I replied "Who?" Miss Lois laughed till tears rolled down her face. That was the last straw in anyone coping tactfully with my senility of the day. I don't think I will ever be able to see those little crackers and not recall the bumbled, funny events that took place. Life is definitely filled with many enjoyable, fun moments to remember, especially when you work with such nice, fun loving people.

Grab it

As you all know, I have two dogs. Andrew is part Beagle and Golden Retriever and is almost eight years old. Bertha is Golden Retriever and Brittany Spaniel and she is about seven years old. They are basically good house dogs, as they just lay around, sometimes stay off the furniture and they do not chew on things. However, they have one strange habit.

If someone comes to the door, they immediately have to pick up something in their mouths as they greet our visitors. Sometimes they grab a shoe or one of Alyssa Janelle's toys. As the people enter, they walk back and forth, wagging their tails, whining and holding the object in their mouth. Eventually they retreat and drop the object.

Recently, I was home alone with them. I acknowledged Andrew's presence and he excitedly picked up my shoe. When Bertha saw it in his mouth, she immediately picked up the other one and stood at the back door thinking a guest was about to arrive. No one was there. However, I was impressed that she associated Andrew's shoe holding with a potential visitor. False alarm this time, Bertha. However, I know you will keep trying.

CAUSE pleased with state blasting Edison

by ALEC JUNGE
Lakeland Newspapers

A citizen's group opposed to a power line from Lake Villa to Antioch is pleased with testimony from a state official who said Commonwealth Edison needs more information and to consider other alternatives.

Jim Pierce of Citizens Against Unsafe Electricity (CAUSE) said the testimony helps show Edison can't prove there is a public need for the 138-kilovolt transmission line. He said the testimony of Philip Buxton, director of planning and operations in the Public Utilities Division of the Illinois Commerce Commission supports CAUSE's claims.

"The testimony does not support Edison's request for application based on public convenience and necessity," Pierce said. "There isn't sufficient need for it."

Pierce feels Buxton felt the need to testify because Edison hasn't given answers to questions the commission has requested. He was encouraged Buxton said CAUSE's witness Dave Shoengold had a more detailed testimony.

The CAUSE proposal calls for improving and adding transformers to the existing 34-kilovolt plant in Antioch. The proposal is said to be less costly to rate payers and better because it doesn't have the dangers of Electromagnetic fields (EMF's).

"Edison is planning the same thing in Grayslake and we project the future growth of Grayslake to be significantly higher than Antioch and Lake Villa. If it can work for Grayslake, why not Antioch and Lake Villa," Pierce said.

Pierce said the issue is likely to proceed all the way up to the U.S. Supreme Court.

Battle over power lines waged on several fronts

by MARY FOLEY
Lakeland Newspapers

Commonwealth Edison's battle to place 138-kilovolt, overhead lines through Lake Villa and Antioch continues both at the Illinois Commerce Commission (ICC) and on other fronts.

Surprise testimony before the ICC from Phillip Buxton, director of planning and operations in the Public Utilities Division of the ICC, is expected to cause further delays in the final decision.

Buxton, in 19 pages of testimony before the board, called for Edison to "fill this information void" before the ICC makes a final determination. Buxton has asked the board to require Edison to provide additional information to the commission.

Edison is being asked to present electrical peak demand forecasts, evaluations of alternative plans, explanations of how the new 138-kilovolt line and the new substation will reduce demand, and an explanation of what electrical loads the new system will serve. Questions about the transformer capacity, a description of the new substation and disclosure of the alleged agreement with the Village of Antioch have also been requested.

"We have been given a short time to pull it all together. A couple of weeks," said Ron Crawford, public affairs director of Commonwealth Edison. "We will provide it. We have already provided most of this information to the intervenors."

Edison was caught rather short by the Buxton group's request. According to Crawford, the information that is requested is over and above what has been necessary in the past to get ICC approval.

"We were kind of surprised by Mr. Buxton's involvement," Crawford continued. "His group has never before become involved."

In the meantime, the Army Corps of Engineers is also looking into the matter. The Corps is evaluating the potential harm to area wetlands. Specifically, questions concerning the creation of access roads to maintain the new lines through wetland areas is being challenged by the Corps. However, Crawford does not feel this presents a great problem.

"In many areas we simply defer any maintenance until the wintertime when the ground and water are frozen," explained Crawford. "The new proposal includes the removal of the poles that are now in Loon Lake."

Chief opponent of the proposed lines is the group Citizens Against Unsafe Electricity (CAUSE). According to Buxton, CAUSE's testimony, delivered by David Schoengold, was much more detailed than Edison's presentation. CAUSE presented various alternatives to Edison's proposed plan although Buxton admits that it is possible that Edison has properly rejected all reasonable alternatives, including the plans of CAUSE. However, he indicated that Edison did not adequately address the issue of alternatives in their direct testimony.

suburban. Another hitch in the proposed development concerned off-site reforestation. The project's representatives argued that the presence of woodlands on the property constituted a hardship which deprived them of any reasonable use of their property.

The proposed property is located on the west side of Grass Lake Road, 550 feet south of Lake Avenue, and 500 feet north of Hillside Avenue. The 16.321 acre plot is located in Antioch Township.

At the regular meeting of the LCZBA held on Aug. 13, the board denied the requested variances. At the hearing a number of residents spoke out against the development. These same residents are now named as defendants in the action.

While Mitch Hoffman of the State's Attorney's office is representing the LCZBA, it will be up to the residents themselves to get their own representation. However, it may not be necessary.

"Our office will be defending the ZBA," said Hoffman. "They are not seeking any relief from the residential defendants personally."

According to Hoffman, the statute requires that all parties to the original action be made defendants to the complaint. It is not clear, however, if individuals that testify in such hearings are "parties."

Furthermore, plaintiff's attorney, Murray Conzelman has told Hoffman that any resident named as a defendant can receive a letter from Conzelman stating that no damages will be requested. It is unclear whether such a document is legally binding on the court. Particularly since in the prayer for relief of the complaint, it is asked that the court award the plaintiff court costs.

Russ Fairchild takes annual stroll through town

Editor's note:

Antioch resident Russ Fairchild has been writing about his annual Christmas stroll through town for many years. At the Antioch News-Reporter it has become a tradition to print Fairchild's holiday adventures. Following is part 1 of 'Another Christmas Stroll Through Town.'

'How Great Thou Art,' St. Peters

Rise 'N' shine! It's that festive time again to begin our annual stroll through town.

As usual the village lampposts are all aglow from the Christmas trees adorning them, as I enter St. Peter's Church for mass, Deacon Robert Gagnon greets me. Father William Costello is officiating. Clare Kadera a popular pillar of the church is the lector. Jean Zak is vocalist and music director, calling for number 63, 'Amazing Grace'

Seated in front left section, you'll find two faithful parishioners, Mitchell and Jeanine Kasprovicz — Diane Swanson, Maria Skeberys, Eleanor Maschek; talented vocalist, Joe Yarc, Marilyn Warden, Ed and Dorothy Gromala, Joseph Kotlarz, Bruno and Bernice Parker and Pleasant Nancy Schlitter.

It's Nov. 5 for Geraldine Ring and that means the faithful family of the late Blaine Ring pay homage to him, a wonderful father and husband, etc. and human being of course. By now, the parish is well aware of this. Blaine was a square shooter, I know, he was my friend.

Across the aisle in right hand section, will be to wit: Bob and Mary Berg, Ed and Lottie Vejvoda, Bob Kadera, John Zak, Mike Gross, Chuck Toman, Lector Doris and Joe Veith, Ray and Mary Zaborowski, Irene and Bob Griffin.

Jean Zak calls for "Just a Closer Walk with Thee." This brings forth the brilliant basso profundo voice of vocalist Ed Caulfield with wife Lu; Vene Cermak, Lucy Altman, Madeline Winkler, friendly Floyd Davis, Nancy Neckerman, Judy Kozenski, all singing.

Ruth Burke, lector, and a dear person, joins in. Glancing around I see the smiling faces of Jim and Vicki Vermillion of Oakwood Knolls, and popular owner of the Carroll Financial Services on Hillside Avenue, Tom Carroll.

Jean Zak closed out the singing with "Immaculate Mary."

Footlight 1993

Father Hanley was pleased over the twelfth anniversary of Footlights. Brad Ipsen, president; Steve Smouse, Chairman; the Dugenske's, the Osmond's, the Sobczak's, all heavy hitters.

book. It's impossible for me to compete with that. Beside your sponsors, show people, musicians, actors, stage hands. Behind the scenes, Claudette Skvarce, Betty Letkey, Joanne Vistain, Jack and Paula Birren, Council of Catholic Women.

Father Bernard Duffy

We were all deeply saddened by the sudden passing of our beloved Father Duffy on April 29 at 88 years of age.

First, let's digress a little. How I cherished his occasional visits to my home, whether I was ill or not and his relaxing in the large leather easy chair in one corner of my parlor. He always had interesting subjects to dwell-on, and whenever I saw a twinkle in his eye, I sensed one coming on. Never a dull moment.

So if you noticed tears in my eyes at his last farewell, so be it. I loved the man. As did many others, including the lovely couple with me; Ruth and Frank Krause. In St. Peters Voice Paper of May 9, Father Hanley said it all beautifully in his farewell message to Father Duffy: "We will miss him." Amen.

Now, on a more cheerful note, we were all happy for our own Paul Neurater, who on Oct. 24 became a candidate for ordination to the permanent diaconate program.

Two full terms

This beautifully worded article in The Voice of November 7 by our own Father Hanley comes from the heart. He has "bent over backwards" many times to see progress materialize. His many projects and improvements are clearly evident. He looks upon this parish as his home, and us parishioners as his family. His love has shown through loud and clear. Let's be thankful if we can just keep him with us. "Personally, I can't envision this church without him!"

Struggles Restaurant

This popular place, directly across the road from the church is always a pleasure to visit. Especially when it's occupied by several members, holding down the round table on the balcony. To wit: Vera Mirocko, Jean Daniel, Elaine Toman, Lottie Koziol and Pat Kenyon. The vacant chair for departed "Peg" Harrison. Joe Badame of Weasels Restaurant, west on Route 173. Highly recommended.

The Village Cleaners

Lee and Gert Ipsen and Brian. An established business for many years, Lee was VIP at St. Peters Church some time back, and to all his customers, both he and Gert are very important people, VIP's. Piggly Wiggly

Jean Weber, Manager. This lavish store is almost completed, and what a wonderful transformation. It's a pleasure to behold the actions and amazement of some of the customers. Over in the large open office with Brenda, Carole and popular Patricia Antonelli, it's business as usual.

The same over in the large produce department (Al Babak Manager) where I see Paula Birren, RN from Orchard Medical Center. Mary and Jim Polley are nearby in the floral and party section with talented arranger Eileen Cahill. Roaming through the store, I wave to Tony and Avis Huber in the Meat Market. Mary Hancock is in the large display of greeting cards. She, too, favors the special ones by Helen Steiner Rice.

Marge Norwood, one of my favorite checkers (we go way back to the old A&P) is relieving banker Ed Archambault of his many coupons. Checker Lynn is aiding Marge Poulos.

Now, if you are feeling a bit hungry, but don't know quite what for, I'll give you a tip where you can solve this problem. Ankle over to the deli department, take a ticket, and hope that Patty Benes is available to quench your appetite. Jim Young is still looking. Marilyn Warden is waiting on my neighbor, Ruth Goelz for potato salad and hot dogs. Jolly Josephine Ottolino is helping John Zak from Rainbow Manor. Joan Stahl is buying lunch meats from Alice.

Hazel Van Patten in the magazines and books, Marge Seitz looking for Mary Polley. . . and there cruising by in his patrol car, on Orchard Street, is one of Antioch's finest, officer Ron Nauman of the Antioch Police Department.

Antioch post office

Tom Prince-Postmaster. Jan McRae, Jill Cunningham, Cele Hoven, Judy McKinley, Valerie Sikorski, Dawn Elwart, Paul Yukas, David Vos. Just a few of the employees that will be handling your mail as another trying time, Christmas, approaches. Long, tedious hours, braving the elements, but they all observe the slogan. The mail must go through.

Please bear with them, and these retired workers. Happy holidays to Jean Irving, Carol Buchta, Andrea Goode, Wilbur Gers, Fred Vermeyen, Larry Dullinger, Helen Balcer, Sarge McBride, Sandy Stachel, Jerry Parish, to mention a few. Oops, here comes Marty Lasco.

Thank you and Merry Christmas.

The Lizard

This talented lady amazes me with the many hats she wears. Mother, wife, columnist, school board member, and a fine one. Yet she finds time and devotion to spare for Camp Crayon. Amazing.

However, I have a tidbit for her. Her neighbors there in Grass Lake, The Caulfields, Ed and Lu, and myself, were also residents of old Austin, same as she was. "Yes, it's a small, small world." Liz, you bring a lot of cheer and happiness to all your many readers, including me. I was happy to see you again at the Las Vegas Restaurant.

Tom Dvorak-Landscapers

And here's another special person in the hats he wears, the services he performs for so many homeowners and gardeners, including me.

Besides his volunteer time with the Antioch Rescue Squad, which I sure appreciated back on June 28 when he transported me from Orchard Medical Center into St. Therese Hospital. Let's also applaud Sheila, his lovely wife, who also gets involved.

Antioch Senior Center

Paul Howard administrator. . . and the fine crew, that has done so much, for so many. It's really heartwarming, as is Dorothy, too. The last time I was there with Jean Zak for Hilda's 88th birthday party, there was a vacant chair that only one person could occupy, and now she's back: God bless her, marvelous Marcie Marcucci.

You'll find fine folks here: To mention a few Samuel and Frances Lombardo, who add class to any place Irma and Pauline, the Bob Kriegers, Phyllis Mengler in charge of dancing and singing. The Ottolino's, Helen, caller for bingo, and Josephine, Margaret Stiles, Rose Dunaj and don't forget "Meals on Wheels."

Floyd Horton,

Our Grand Centennial Man. Floyd has been hospitalized, but he is holding his own. He was 101 years old on Nov. 7. Clare, his lovely wife, was 91 years old on Nov. 27. They celebrated their 70th wedding anniversary on Nov. 20. All in the month of November. What a wonderful, loving relationship this has been. I have had the pleasure of seeing them quite often, and many a time Clare and I have walked to the post office together.

Ed Miles and his brother operated Savanna Construction Company which was founded by their father in 1915. They also owned the National Bank of Savanna. The family purchased the State Bank of Antioch in 1985.

According to Randy, the family was looking for another bank in order to expand. They found what they were looking for in Antioch and it was such a large business deal they had to sell the Savanna Bank.

"We were small town people. People like to be recognized not as a number," said Randy Miles. "We found Antioch to be very friendly."

Antioch to keep wreath red

The Antioch Fire Department will participate in the national "Keep the Wreath Red" program. The program is sponsored by local fire departments to promote fire safety.

Antioch's "Red Wreath" will be displayed outside the fire station, located on Orchard Street. The wreath will be decorated completely with red lights to start off the holidays. Should the Antioch Fire Department respond to a fire caused by holiday decorations or other holiday festivities, a red light will be changed to a white light.

Residents can help to keep the wreath red by practicing fire safe procedures and insuring that your family has a safe holiday.

RAPPing the gangs

Educators and police form alliance adopting zero tolerance dealing with organized violence.

Remarkable changes in attitudes have taken place in this community and neighboring areas regarding gang activity. Changes have taken place in a relatively short period of time.

In approximately three years or less, we have gone in stages from almost total denial of evidence of inner-city type gangs in our midst, to recognition of the existence of gangs as a major threat to our peace and safety, and today, planning and execution of aggressive programs to eradicate gangs as a criminal activity.

It wasn't that long ago that the only law enforcement agencies admitting to gang awareness were located in Waukegan, Round Lake Beach, Zion, Mundelein and North Chicago, communities with substantial minority populations. The typical response elsewhere by school officials and police authorities boiled down to: "Gangs? Not in our town. That's a problem in the inner city. Not here."

Times have changed. Now we know that this viewpoint either was wrong or reflected the ostrich approach to dealing with society's ills.

Coping with gang activity carries a high priority in just about every Lake County community and police department. Notable strides are being made confronting gang members and the crimes they commit.

One such anti-gang effort is the Regional Action Planning Project of Southern Lake County (R.A.P.P.). Made up of school leaders and law enforcement officials, RAPP has designed a model gang policy based on zero tolerance. RAPP relies heavily on education and information sharing. At a recent meeting of business people, Mundelein Police Chief Ray Rose startled luncheoners with a dramatic display of gang hats, colors, jackets and symbols, things that appear innocuous until you know what they mean.

As Rose emphasized, "Gangs mean drugs, guns and violence."

RAPP is serving a bulwark against northern expansion of Chicago and Cook County gangs. With leadership and involvement, police and educators are making it known that gangs simply will not be tolerated here.

Which senator is it?

Carol Moseley-Braun continues to send out mixed signals. Is it Capt. Courageous or hack?

Senator Carol Moseley-Braun, the Illinois Democrat who made history last fall by becoming the first black woman elected to the U.S. Senate, keeps sending out mixed signals.

Moseley-Braun supported NAFTA, much to the chagrin of labor bosses. She has been endorsing tougher laws for juvenile criminals like treating 13-year-olds charged with major crimes as adults. We look upon this as enlightened public positions even though Moseley-Braun infuriated liberals and Black Caucus leaders with these stands.

It was encouraging to see Moseley-Braun appear at the Marriott Lincolnshire several weeks ago as principal speaker for the 27th annual dinner of the Lake County Urban League. We had begun to wonder if the Chicago politician had forgotten that there is life north of Lake-Cook Rd.

Moseley-Braun emphasized that education is a common good. The personable senator underscored the importance of the United States finding its place in the world on the basis of hope rather than fear. The viewpoints sounded nice, but we're not exactly sure what ideas Moseley-Braun was trying to get across.

What is disturbing about Moseley-Braun is that she is dogged by questions of her personal finances and handling of campaign funds. A national magazine raised the issues of political honesty and ethics.

The senator can't ignore charges like these and expect to be taken seriously.

After one year in office, the question persists whether Moseley-Braun is a bellwether for African-Americans and a new voice in the U.S. Senate or just another machine-style, liberal Democrat?

Deceptive growth

It has taken almost a decade and a furious spurt of growth and development in the early 1990's for Lake County high school enrollment to near the high of 24,932 reached in 1985.

From that point, according to a study made by the College of Lake County, high school enrollment fell to 22,569 by the fall of 1990. This fall enrollment at county high schools totaled 24,911. Indications are that the 1994-95 term will see the all-time high surpassed.

From the fall of 1992-93, enrollment increased in 12 of 15 high school districts. Only Deerfield/Highland Park, North Chicago and Round Lake had fewer students in the fall of 1993 than the previous year. Enrollment increases of 10 percent or more were experienced by Grayslake, Lake Zurich and Waukegan.

The high school enrollment study underscores the danger of making snap judgments about population and demographics even as new rooftops appear to be sprouting from every piece of vacant land. This is one time where the appearance of growth was deceiving.

Clinton report card; coach joke not PC

by BILL SCHROEDER

About a year ago, shortly before the 1992 Presidential election, a long-time business friend and prominent Democrat, called with the admonishment, "Your criticism of Bill Clinton is way off base. He's going to win and he's going to make a good President. By the way, cancel my subscription. You're too biased."

Friend, you were half correct. Clinton won election. The jury, though, still is out on how good a chief executive the ex-Gov. of Arkansas is. Ever since his inauguration last January, the whole nation has been keeping score on President Clinton. As Clinton's first year winds down, here's my tally on issues and actions, based on the good old ABC grading system with brief comments, just like your teacher used to mark term papers:

NAFTA—A. Right on target!

Deficit reduction—E. Missing the point totally Domestic policy—D. For dud.

Gays in military—D. For dumb

Political ability—A-. Strong point.

Wife's role—D. For dangerous

Foreign policy—C. Keep trying

White House pet—A. Socks is great!

Presidential image—C. For common

Crime bill—C+. Good start

Health care reform—D-. Start over.

Somalia, Bosnia—C-. Need help

Pacific Rim accord—B. Good job.

Cabinet appointments—C-. Humdrum.

Saxophone playing—D. Keep day job

Al Gore—B. Slapped Ross Perot

Based on a 5. scale, Clinton's first year adds up to a GPA (grade point average) of 2.96.

At the colleges with which I'm familiar, when you dip below a 3., you land on probation. Probation. Yes.

That's the way it worked out. Honest.

Put President Clinton to the test. Make up your own issues and actions. It'll be fun and interesting. Guaranteed.

OVER REACTION—As a high school football coach, Dale Christiansen developed a well earned reputation for "creative" motivational techniques along with a slew of victories in two decades of coaching. But even his staunchest supporters are agreeing that playing the role of victim in a mock random shooting was a topser.

Christiansen hoped bogus wounds would hype his Libertyville Wildcats varsity in quest of a state title. How falling prostrate in front of his players at a pre-game meeting, spattered with catsup, connects with winning a football game is a bit of mystery. Whether or not Christiansen's dramatics hyped his players became lost in the media melee that followed the stunt. Christiansen quickly shut down speculation with a resignation.

The fake shooting was wacky and wild. But it wasn't out of character, former players and fans will attest. What was different about the latest Christiansen stunt? The gun. The shooting. The times. Calls for gun control. In the current climate of gauging every societal act on the basis of its political correctness, guns and shootings are to be abhorred. Guns are definitely out. Coach Christiansen became a casualty of popular perceptions of firearms. The hard-driving coach is a PC victim.

Politicians do wacky things and get reelected. Rock stars go crazy on stage (fake wounds are mild) and their popularity skyrockets. School officials commit stupid acts and taxpayers pay the bills. A columnist writes a dumb column and pleads First Amendment rights. A football coach acts up and he walks the plank.

Christiansen shouldn't have to bow out of a career that he loves and is very good at because of one brainless act. Apologize? Yes. Resign? No. Coach Christiansen's mistake was that he used a pistol instead of a dagger. A dagger is PC. Shakespeare, you know!

GOP snub doesn't phase board vet Calabresa

Party Lines, the Lakeland Newspapers column of political commentary, is prepared from staff reports

Seven positions are up for grabs in the County Board Primary elections this March. Up for election will be Jim Fields, Dist. 1 R-Antioch; Robert Neal, Dist. 2 R-Wadsworth; Bertha Ogrin, Dist. 8 D-Waukegan; Colin McRae, Dist. 10 R-Mundelein; Audrey Nixon, Dist. 14 D-North Chicago; Carol Calabresa, Dist. 15 R-Libertyville; and Pamela Newton, Dist. 18 R-Vernon Hills.

While the filing date is a week away, Republicans have made their endorsements which include incumbents Jim Fields, Bob Neal, Colin McRae, and Pam Newton. Newcomer Jim Stanczak will be challenging incumbent Democrat Bertha Ogrin and Marty Paulson (County Health Department) will be challenging Libertyville's own Carol Calabresa. So far, no GOP candidate has been selected for the seat of Audrey Nixon, in rock solid Democratic territory. Bobbie O'Reilly is planning a challenge to Newton.

According to Calabresa, the only Republican incumbent not endorsed by the party, she is confident that her grass roots support will carry her again this time. Calabresa, who has been on the board since 1986, has a BS in Political Science from the University of Wisconsin. Calabresa believes that the big issue facing the county is the fact that it is the "fastest growing county in the U.S."

"The challenge," explains Calabresa, "is to keep our services at the current level in the face of this growth."

Bob Neal feels that the number one concern of county residents is taxes.

"I have always referred to myself as an anti-tax conservative," said Neal. "I have been a leading advocate of Governor Edgar's tax cap."

To date, Democrats have made no official announcement concerning candidates. According to Nixon, Democratic incumbent, she is not aware of any potential candidates at this point.

Campaign double-talk---Whatever his political ambitions are, Sheriff's Capt. Willie Smith received plaudits from many sides for his decision to step down as under sheriff of Lake County to return to the ranks. Smith took the wind out of the sails of Clint Grinnell foes making noise that the under sheriff would be appointed when Grinnell resigns in a year or so after winning reelection next year.

Say what? Ed Sindles, the former sheriff's aide who is campaigning for the Republican nomination for sheriff next spring, decried charges that he is a mudslinger. But Sindles put out a release that he doesn't like "that kind of political maneuvering." That's like saying, "I never said that, but I'm glad someone else did." Oh, oh. The Grinnell-Sindles match is heating up.

Nixon

Recovery wishes---Friends are wishing Gerry Howland a speedy recovery. Howland, on a pre-Thanksgiving visit to Europe with his wife, suffered a stroke. The former Mundelein village trustee and civic leader used to make overseas flights regularly as corporation counsel for an oil company. Once thought of as a sure bet to run for mayor of Mundelein, Howland bowed out of politics due to early retirement and health problems.

Tenth annual infant mental health conference held

This fall, over 200 professionals from across the state gathered for the tenth anniversary conference of the Illinois Assn. for Infant Mental Health at Mallinckrodt Campus of Loyola University in Wilmette.

The group was comprised of professionals from the disciplines of education, psychiatry and social workers, as well as other mental health technicians.

The keynote speaker was Carolyn Zahn-Waxler, Ph.D., a staff member of the National Institute for Mental Health in Washington, D.C. Her research includes studies of a group of women who have recently given birth and are experiencing postpartum depression. Her findings reach the conclusion that children from depressed households are at high risk for learning, social, academic and peer problems, as well as poor health. Among the preschool populations, there is evidence of distress and disruptive behaviors when adult depression is part of the home life.

For many mothers the disorder may have biochemical origins. Marital conflict is another contributing factor in depression.

Zahn-Waxler strongly advocates the assistance of mental health professionals and caregivers (either at-home or center-based day care situations). Coping strategies for children of depressed parents may be gained by the consistent and practical experiences of professionals.

While there is a need for further research, many mothers who suffer from depression are managing to do well with their young children.

The Lake County Health Dept. can provide a list of telephone numbers for those wishing more information regarding assistance. The YWCA Child Care Resource and Referral in Waukegan has lists of both center-based and at-home child care professionals. The telephone number of the Resource and Referral agency is 1-800-244-5376.

Good parenting helps kids

Parenting is no simple task. There is no degree or college credit given in parenting. Most of us tend to treat our children the way we were brought up. It becomes even more difficult to parent when life is full of stressors and we have little opportunity to find relief from stress.

We all have the capacity to strike out in fear, anger, pain or frustration and this capability makes it possible for all of us to be potential abusers. Most people have the ability to control violent impulses.

Other sources of help:

- Finding a support network,
- Having needs for nurturing met,

- Focusing attention on success, not failure,
- Learning about parenting skills,
- Eliminating stress, and
- Controlling use of alcohol and other drugs.

Today some employers are providing parenting education, support groups during the lunch hour, flexible work time and phone calls with children after school. In many cases this change at the work site results in a more productive employee.

A report in the "American Journal of Public Health" shows that abuse and neglect can occur in urban and rural areas, boys and girls are equally at risk and family income is a significant risk factor.

If a parent feels the need for help, places to look include:

- Supportive family members and friends
- Employee assistance programs
- Child's teacher/school counselor
- Church/synagogue
- Social worker
- Telephone book list of community services
- Library for books on parenting.

Your child's crossed eyes may cause permanent damage if not treated!

CROSSED EYES and other eye misalignments do not usually correct themselves. By the time a child is seven years old the vision damage they cause can become permanent.

Eye misalignments can be corrected as soon as a child is six months old. The earlier the correction, the more time there is for normal vision to develop.

Kim Kalla Dance Studio produces national video

by ALEC JUNG
Lakeland Newspapers

Kim Kalla Dance Studios in Lake Villa has produced a children's dance video distributed nationally to help parents who can't afford dance school or for children who feel more comfortable in a familiar setting.

There are three separate videos at a cost of $39.95 or $99.95 for the series. The series is designed to teach proper ballet and dance techniques from warming up to a complete routine for pre-school children.

"It's great for shy kids to give them the confidence to get started," Kalla said. "The first video provides a fun and affordable alternative for children who can't attend dance class every week. It also makes it convenient for parents who want to start their children out in dance without the extensive time and financial commitment."

Each video lasts about 45 minutes and comes complete with a costume coordinated to each dance. The videos include a five-minute warm-up session, the five basic positions of ballet, and a dance routine in an easy to follow instructional format. A parents guide includes additional information about safety to lyrics from the music.

Kalla said the videos are a good way to get kids interested in dance without making a major investment.

"From the economic standpoint the costs of the video are a fraction of what dance lessons would cost. Lessons cost $20 to $30 a month," Kalla said.

The Kalla studios presently have about 450 students enrolled. Kalla teaches tap, ballet, jazz and tumbling to students aged three to adults. They have students from throughout north and west Lake County.

Kalla said she hopes the video is a way she can promote dance and bring it out into the public view.

"I see a need for an alternative with lower income families. I am a big dance advocate. I want to get dance out there. It is a cultural aspect people need to know about," Kalla said.

The video featured students from Kalla's classes. The students who participated in the video are Sarah Ginascol, Aimee Gregorin, Amy Knutson, Corine Knutson, Kaja Milovanovic, Ashley Torres and Amanda Woods.

For more information about the video call 838-3686. If you wish to buy call the above number or write Step by Step Productions at P.O. Box 759, Lake Villa, IL 60046.

CLC seeks literacy grant to assist area companies

by SUZIE REED
Lakeland Newspapers

Four Lake County companies are currently participating in a literacy program offered by the College of Lake County through a U.S. Department of Education national Workplace Literacy Grant of $383,000. Metalex Corp. of Libertyville, Maclean Fogg of Mundelein, Baxter Healthcare Corp. of Mundelein, and Abbot Laboratories in North Chicago have all taken advantage of the grant opportunity.

The program is so successful that the college wishes to apply for another grant to assist more companies. The application must include the names of companies wishing to participate in the program.

"We've got a half-dozen companies who have expressed an interest," said Tim Budd, associate dean for economic development. "The program requires a commitment on the part of the companies to help us target and identify employees and make time for them to participate in the program."

The college has scheduled a breakfast meeting at 7:30 a.m. Nov. 29 for companies interested in this development opportunity.

Companies that would benefit, says Budd, are those who "feel that they would like to raise the literacy level of their employees."

Employees who take advantage of the program are more productive and are candidates for more sophisticated training to allow them to move up to higher positions in their chosen field.

The screening process for employees is "non-accusatory," said Budd.

The classes will focus on whatever skills the company may have a concern for, whether it be language skills, English as a second language, reading, math skills or simply General Education Development training.

"We set up the classes to enhance those skills. Employees learn to communicate better with their associates; they learn the terminology. It enables them to be more effective workers," said Budd.

Security joins 1st Waukegan

The First Waukegan Corporation has made arrangements to acquire all of the outstanding shares of Security Chicago Corporation. The transaction, requiring shareholder and regulatory approval, is expected to be completed by mid-1994.

The acquisition is the result of a definitive agreement by both parties. The affiliation will afford the First Waukegan the opportunity to extend their service to the north side of the City of Chicago.

Security Chicago is the holding company for the First Security Bank of Chicago with offices in Water Tower Plaza and on E. Ontario St.

First Waukegan currently holds the subsidiaries of the Bank of Northern Illinois N.A. in Waukegan, Gurnee and Libertyville, and the Bank of Northern Illinois located in Glenview.

First Chicago adds to Spanish language brochure selection

The First National Bank of Chicago has added three brochures to its selection of informational materials available in Spanish for the convenience of the Spanish-speaking community.

"We are committed to meeting the ongoing informational needs about our products and services for all of our customers," said W.G. Jurgensen, executive vice president and head of First Chicago's community banking group. "Having these pieces translated into Spanish helps us meet and achieve that goal."

The new offerings include the bank's retail deposit account information agreement and the Spanish Guide to Equity Credit Lines. These are "disclosure" pieces, which First Chicago is one of the first banks in Chicago to translate.

Also available is a brochure describing the services of First Chicago Investment Services, Inc., which offers a full range of mutual funds and annuities. Other pieces describing additional products and services will be available in Spanish over time.

The First National Bank of Chicago, the tenth largest bank in the country, has more than 70 branches throughout the Chicago metropolitan area providing leading edge banking products and services to retail customers. It is a subsidiary of First Chicago Corporation.

Ray Chevrolet honored as one of nation's best

by TINA L. SWIECH
Lakeland Newspapers

Working its way from the bottom up, Ray Chevrolet and Geo in Fox Lake have been awarded justly for ranking high in customer satisfaction ratings throughout the nation.

The one-time low-production business located on Rte. 12 in the village was bought by Ray Scarpelli a little more than two years ago, and sales were turned around to a 650 percent increase per month.

"When he (Scarpelli) took over the dealership, 15 cars a month were sold," said Secretary/Treasurer for Ray Chevrolet

Robert M. Lindblad. "There's now 100 sold a month," Lindblad explained.

District Sales Manager for Chevrolet Geo Valerie Weaver presented Scarpelli, his son, Ray Jr.; and Mark Scarpelli with an impressive plaque for their leadership in customer satisfaction, ranking the dealership one of the top 50 in the nation.

But that's not all Scarpelli has to be proud of. A special edition Michael Jordan S-10 Blazer, unveiled at the beginning of the month, was his own inspiration.

Only 600 of the commemorative-edition Blazer's will be made, honoring Jordan for his nine seasons and three consecutive National Basketball Association championships with the Bulls.

Scarpelli said he sold the first of the edition, and the second one is currently in his Fox Lake showroom, but may not be for long.

Ray Chevrolet explained that the $1,995 package added to the two-door or four-door Blazer, features body-colored grille; body-colored fiberglass running boards with gold trim; 24-karat gold

"Blazer" emblems on the dashboard; and a rosewood wood-grain dashboard with a brass plaque sporting Jordan's signature.

The superlative superstar's signature will also be on the rear body-side panel.

The 30-year owner of Raymond Chevrolet in Antioch said he attributes his success at the stores to "word of mouth" from his satisfied customers.

Plans to expand the Fox Lake store are being looked at currently, said Scarpelli.

Tree company hits full swing at Christmas time

by ALEC JUNGE
Lakeland Newspapers
Oh, Christmas tree.

To some it's a tree to be looked at, cherished, decorated and loved for the Christmas season. For Rich

Entrepreneur

Rosko and Tim Broderick of Rosko's Great Christmas Trees it is a yearly process that culminates with a frantic pace of getting trees ready and selling them to Yuletide revelers.

"I love Christmas. It's a wonderful time everyone is in a good mood," Rosko said.

The trees don't just appear out of thin air; much preparation and care goes into every tree they sell. The trees are grown in three farms in Wisconsin that total 100 acres. The trees need to be carefully pruned so they grow straight.

"We need make a cut in them each year," Rosko said. "It is rare for a tree to grow in a straight way."

The trees must grow for about 12 years before they are cut. They are grown in the rows to prevent the possibility of fire breaking and destroying a whole crop, said Rosko.

After cutting the trees down they must go through a shaker. The machine takes the excess needles and other assorted things that might be stuck in a tree. "You wouldn't believe the junk that comes from the trees," Broderick said.

The business started about five years ago when Rosko bought a storage area for his business and couldn't use it. "I decided I might as well sell Christmas trees."

The business has grown considerably since then. Rosko and Broderick now sell trees both at the retail and wholesale level. They have tree lots in Antioch, Lindenhurst and Fox Lake. They also sell wholesale in Johnsburg.

The most popular trees are Scotch pines who Rosko said account for about 50 percent of sales. "Scotch Pines are the all-American tree. They are the best value. People can buy one for $25 instead of $35 to $40 for a balsam," Rosko said.

Rosko said they hope to sell 5,000 trees. He said the busiest days are the first two weekends in December.

For more information call Rosko at 265-1252.

Managing investments

Previously we talked about setting goals when we invest. In determining our investment goal—safety, income or growth, it's vital to consider our own personality and temperament. Are we self-assured, comfortable in making our own decisions, or are we prone to be swayed by the opinion of others?

An individual who owns and operates his or her own business, regardless of size, is usually more comfortable in making an investment decision than someone whose major activities are confined to the management of a home. The business person makes investment decisions daily—how much inventory to hold, where and when to issue credit, and so on. So, making an investment decision, weighing the risk-reward and applying it to his or her situation is not entirely unfamiliar. He or she is more self-assured in the investment world.

On the other hand, there are those who will jump at the first suggestion of another, even though that person may not be as successful as they. Try to explain it? We can't—it's just human nature. Remember the old story of two people looking at a partially filled glass of water—one sees it as half full; the other, half empty? The optimist sees a stock that's dropped some in its market value as just correcting itself for a giant move forward—another buying opportunity. The pessimist sees the drop in price as the first step toward a total loss. So, you can see the one who's pessimistic might be uncomfortable with an aggressive growth stock which makes radical moves up and down. Thus, he or she should invest in something less risky.

Also important is how much time one has to devote to investments. Investment situations are constantly changing, and the investor must be aware of these changes and be ready and willing to react.

IT'S THE TALK OF THE TOWN

Lakeland
Newspapers

something like that could be put on the market? I just talked to a local store that was instructed to pull the items Nov. 1. If you purchased the item before them, please take them back. And, if you were watching the TV show about the Barney sleeping bags, despite the fire retardant tags, the bags burnt up in a couple of seconds.

So there

This is in response to the article saying that seniors and teens would have to compete for the rec room at the proposed Grayslake Park District facility. Personally, I do not know any teenager who would want to go to a park district to have fun.

Sounds like a lot

I am so sick of hearing you people complaining and sniveling about the high school referendum being defeated. Why don't you put the blame where it belongs: on the politicians and the builder? If anybody was smart enough to check into it, you would know that every house built should be paying $19,000.

Nice lady

I am answering that ad in the paper asking if anyone out there wants to talk. I would like to talk to this party. (The caller then gave out her number. If "Lonely" would like this callers number, please call Lakeland Newspapers)

Feathered friends

This is for "Doesn't get it." The reason that people vote for wetlands and wildlife and not for school education funding is because all of those people are birdbrains.

Respect your elders

This is for "Needs a break." I am a Channel 21 CB operator myself. If you had a little bit of respect for older people who have been out there longer, maybe we would.

Vacation days

It was the night before Thanksgiving, and all through the village, all were allowed to rape and pillage. Because the police chief gave everyone the night off. I am from Island Lake.

She's tired

I am really getting tired of reading statements by people saying that pro-choice is the way to go. I know many people who have gone through many ordeals and even know a girl who committed suicide after discovering she could not have children after her abortion. Being 15 or 16 years old full of panic is not the way to go. Before you go do it, think twice.

No Fellowship desired

I want to respond to Reverend Higgins of Resurrection Fellowship Church. She is eyeing a furniture store in Hainesville for her new holy-roller's prancing ground. I will be against it as well as the residents of Deer Point Trails. We do not want wasted space for these holy rollers. It will not be good for the town. She wants to put in a shelter, which will bring in troubled citizens. Hainesville residents wake up, it will turn into a modern Zion. Why take up space with a cult?

Neighborly advice

We don't want Route 53, we don't need Route 53. It is hard to be a good neighbor when hundreds of billions of pounds of concrete and traffic is rolling through your front yard. You be a good neighbor and move closer to where you work.

Caller mistaken

I am calling to comment about "Tainted milk." It was erroneous. Either it was taken off the message (Continued on page 29)

There's always something different in Dancenter North's staging of a favorite holiday tradition.

The fifth anniversary production of "The Magic of the Nutcracker" promises to be something special.

"It started in 1989 as kind of a small idea that we would do excerpts," said studio owner Cheri Lindell. "We weren't sure what the response

by SUZIE REED
Lakeland Newspapers

would be."

The show, a single performance, was an immediate success.

"It really kind of mushroomed," said Lindell. "It's become a real event."

The Dancenter production features something new every year. Lindell comes up with special touches year after year that distinguish their performance from all the others.

"People come back every year because it's a fresh production," she said. "They enjoy the fact that they don't have to drive all the way to Chicago, and ours is very affordable."

Changes this year include a spectacular new combination doll house and puppet theater that appears in the party scene. Lindell says the battle scene has been restructured to incorporate a lot of excitement. Changes in choreography and new costumes give the production a fresh new look.

Courtney Corbin of Gurnee will play the role of Clara. The 11-year-old daughter of Ronald and Brenda Corbin is in the sixth grade at St. Joseph's School in Libertyville. A ballet student since age 4, Courtney and her family moved to the area several years ago. When Brenda asked about dancing school, other mothers told her Dancenter was the best.

"They have a wonderful staff, really good teachers," she said. "It [Nutcracker] gets better every year."

Courtney has played several roles in the last three Dancenter productions of "The Nutcracker."

"Playing Clara is a dream come true for her," said her mother. "She's so excited."

Playing the role of the Sugar Plum Fairy will be Amy Brandt of Libertyville, a junior at Carmel High School. Yvonne Cheng, a freshman at Libertyville High School and a former "Clara", will play the American Beauty Rose. LHS quarterback Chris Fullbright appears in the party scene.

Terrence McEnroe Jr. of Ingleside has the role of Herr Drosselmeier. His father, Terrence McEnroe Sr., plays the Grandfather.

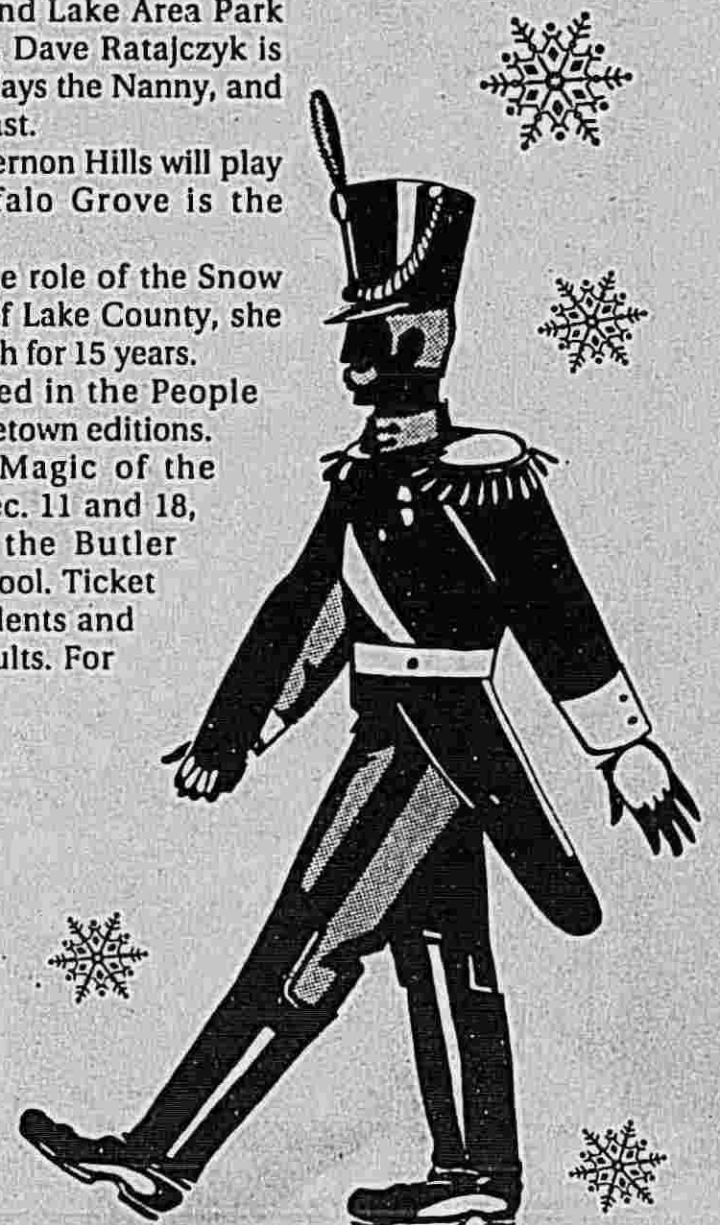

Heather Molinari from the Round Lake Area Park District will play the Grandmother. Dave Ratajczyk is cast as Dr. Silberhaus; Julie Nowak plays the Nanny, and Diana Steplyk of Grayslake is a gymnast.

LHS freshman Tony Braskich of Vernon Hills will play Fritz, and Justin Morris of Buffalo Grove is the Nutcracker Prince.

Nikki White of Waukegan has the role of the Snow Queen. A freshman at the College of Lake County, she has been a student at Dancenter North for 15 years.

Other cast members are featured in the People News sections of their Lakeland hometown editions.

Performance times for "The Magic of the Nutcracker" are 2 and 7:30 p.m. Dec. 11 and 18, and 2 p.m. Dec. 12 and 19 in the Butler Auditorium at Libertyville High School. Ticket prices range from $5 to $12 for students and senior citizens and $8 to $15 for adults. For more information call 367-7970.

The No Hassle All Inclusive Honeymoon

by JIM WARNKEN, PRESIDENT
NORTH STAR TRAVEL, INC.

The all-inclusive resorts are fast becoming popular vacation choices, since they provide a truly carefree atmosphere.

Even more than the annual vacationer, though, the all-inclusives are attracting many honeymoon couples, and for good reason. At what time in a couple's life is it more important to have a stress-free vacation than on their honeymoon?

At an all-inclusive, there is no need to be concerned about how much to tip the guy who brings your bags to your room. You'll never suffer "sticker shock" from menu prices at resort restaurants. No need to think twice about what your bar bill will be if you order that fancy rum drink with the umbrella in it. No $30 per hour costs for wind-surfing or Scuba diving lessons. There's also no charge for the great entertainment you'll be treated to every night.

All this, and much more, is included in the one up-front price you pay for an all-inclusive resort vacation.

The most popular of the all-inclusives, and one who deals exclusively with couples, is Sandals.

Sandals offers five resorts on the island of Jamaica, one in Antigua, another on St. Lucia and their newest in Barbados. All include gourmet dining, drinks, anytime snacks, scuba diving, sailing, wind-surfing, snorkeling, water-skiing, entertainment, tips, taxes and a whole lot more. Most even include golf.

We have visited all but the St. Lucia and Barbados Sandals resorts. My personal favorites are Sandals Negril and Sandals Dunn's River Falls.

I would stay away from Sandals Inn, since it is the only Sandals without a private beach. Also, while Sandals Montego Bay does have a great beach, it's right next to the airport so you might want to avoid it, too, unless you grew up around O'Hare like I did and the sound of jets is second nature.

Ciboney, San Souci and Swept-A-Way, also in Jamaica, Bolongo Beach in St. Thomas and the Harmony Club of Bermuda are other good choices for all-inclusive honeymoons.

The cast from Pegasus Players' "Assassins."

'Assassins' darkly fascinating

Critic's Choice "Assassins," a dark musical about the men and women who have tried to kill the presidents, and in some cases succeeded, is both creepy and fascinating.

With music and lyrics by Stephen Sondheim and interspersed with plenty of gunshots, the nearly two-hour play, which debuted off-Broadway in 1990, is being performed by Pegasus Players at the O'Rourke Center for the Arts in Chicago's Truman College.

Adapted from a book by John Weidman and directed by Victoria Bussert, "Assassins" is peopled by a rogue's gallery of losers, from disgruntled actor John Wilkes Booth (Scott Lowell), who killed Lincoln to the deranged Charles Guiteau (Chris McNamara), who shot Garfield in 1881.

Will Chase, with a touch of the macabre, is featured as The Balladeer who trots out each of the villains as they seek to carve out a spot in America's violent history. The play brings together some whimsical parings: A confused Lynette "Squeaky" Fromme (Lori Scarlett), the '60s radical follower of Charles Manson and John Hinckley (Christopher Eudy), the crazed Jodie Foster fan who wants to prove himself by shooting Ronald Reagan. Jeff Still is devastatingly good as Samuel Byck, the unemployed tire salesman who attempted to assassinate President Nixon in 1974.

In an odd finale, spirits of past assassins hound an embittered Lee Harvey Oswald (John Noyes) into his fatal attack on President Kennedy ("You have the power of Pandora's Box at hand...use it," they urge).

A backdrop screen, onto which are projected various black and white photographs and sketches, provides a silent but provocative running commentary to the onstage action.

The songs, for the most part, are unmemorable, although "Gun Song" struck home with its "move a little finger to change the world."

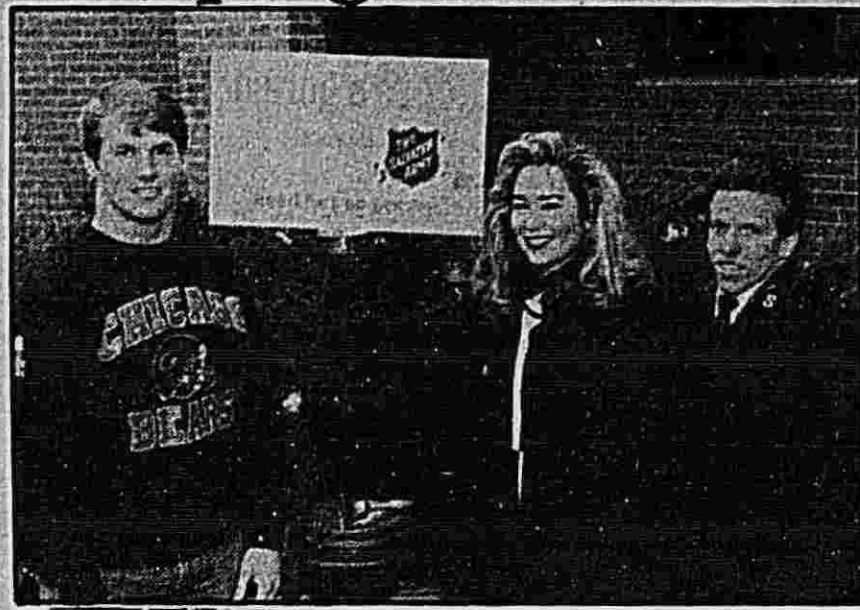

"Assassins," which runs through Dec. 12, still has something of a "work-in-progress" ring to it. It adds up to an unusual night at the theater.—by TOM WITOM

Christmas campaign kicks off

With Bob Christian of the Chicago Bears as the honorary chairman, The Salvation Army began its Christmas Campaign Nov. 20 which will run through Christmas Eve.

The Salvation Army serves well over 5,000 women, children and men annually through the funds raised from the 13 Christmas Kettle locations and Christmas Gift Wrap at Gurnee Mills. The services provided by The Salvation Army in Lake County include food assistance to approximately 2,040 families per year, rent and utility assistance to approximately 1,440 families per year, disaster assistance through The Salvation Army Canteen responding to fires and other disasters, providing food and drinks to rescue workers on the scene, nursing home visitations, as well as food basket and toy distribution in December.

While many individuals, groups and service clubs volunteer to help The Salvation Army during this special time of year, they still find it necessary to hire Christmas Kettle workers. Although over 90 percent of the funds raised goes to those in need, the more people who volunteer to help means more funds that go directly to those in need. If any individual, group or corporation is interested in volunteering or making a donation during this important time of year, they should call or write The Salvation Army at 404 S. Butrick, Waukegan, Ill. 60085, 336-1880. In just an hour or two as a Christmas Kettle volunteer, not only can individuals get into the holiday spirit, but they can also help their neighbors in need.

Step through doorways to Christmas

Step through "Doorways to Christmas" and experience the spirit of the holidays. The St. Joseph's Guild of Libertyville is sponsoring a Christmas Housewalk and Boutique on Wednesday, Dec. 8. Tour five lovely homes adorned for Christmas between the hours of 10 a.m. and 8 p.m. Stop by the St. Joseph's Koenig Center for Christmas shopping at the Boutique and enjoy complimentary refreshments throughout the day.

Tickets are available for a donation of $13 in advance and $15 at the door. To purchase tickets call Lorraine McLaughlin at 367-7775 or stop by the following shops: Van Kirk & Co., 348 N. Milwaukee Ave.; Abbey Ames Attic, 507 N. Milwaukee Ave.; Country Framar Gallery, 1414 S. Milwaukee Ave., Libertyville.

Quig's offers holiday treats

Take a ride in a horse drawn sleigh through a wintry orchard, then sip a cup of hot cider by a cozy fire.

Quig's is into the spirit of winter. The restaurant is decorated for Christmas and the greenhouse is full of beautiful holiday trimmings.

Santa will visit in the donut shop from 9 a.m. to noon Dec. 12 and 19. Bring a camera!

When the snow flies in December Quig's will offer sleigh rides through the orchard for $25 for a sleighful of up to four adults. The sleigh requires four inches of snow on the ground. Call 566-9130 for availability and reservations.

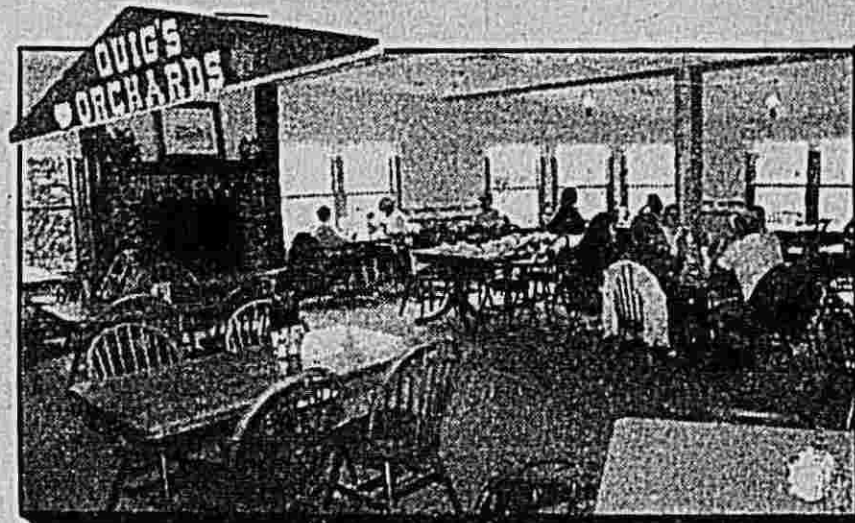

The greenhouse has expanded holiday hours — call ahead. Wreaths, roping and trees are displayed in their indoor-outdoor tree lot.

The gift shop is the place to find gourmet baskets for many on your list. The friendly staff will help you choose an array of delightful gifts or you can pick up some unique stocking stuffers.

Daily breakfast and lunch specials are offered by chef Tony Gutierrez. Sometimes he may feature chicken parmesan over spaghetti or a complete roast pork dinner. Those with smaller appetites may opt for a cup of soup with a half sandwich, or a chef's salad. All the soups, from the baked onion to the chili, are made with the freshest ingredients.

When the temperature drops there's nothing like a bowl of hot oatmeal, and there's nothing quite like Quig's Apple Cinnamon Oatmeal made from an old family recipe. Cooked with apple cider and full of apple chunks and cinnamon and garnished, if you wish, with brown sugar and pecans, it's like having dessert for breakfast.

Quig's Orchard Restaurant, 1/4 mile north of Midlothian Rd. on Rte. 83 in Mundelein, is open from 7 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. Tuesday through Sunday. Hours for the Bakery and Country Store are 7 a.m. to 5 p.m. The Greenhouse and Gift Shop are open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Quig's will close at 1 p.m. Dec. 24 and open again Jan. 4. Take a break from the holiday hustle at Bill's Holiday shopping and preparations got you down? Take a break and stop in to Bill's Pizza and Pub. The restaurant is centrally located on the corner of Route 45 and Diamond Lake Road in Mundelein.

The Pub offers two kinds of pizza. The thin crust pizza has a golden flaky crust that is out-of-this-world. For a more hearty appetite, the double decker pizza is for you.

Besides pizza, Bill's Pub also has many appetizer selections. Onion blossoms, jalapeno cheddar poppers, fried zucchini and mushrooms, are just the thing to start off your meal. The flowering onion is the latest taste treat to be added to the menu.

All of Bill's pizzas are made fresh to order. And, they use the highest quality ingredients available. For something unusual, try Bill's Mexican pizza. This 12" or 14" favorite has taco meat, mozzarella and cheddar cheese, green onion, tomato, black olives, and the optional jalapeno peppers.

Kids of all ages enjoy the electronic game room and complimentary peanuts. Shells on the floor, please.

From carry-out to a complete lunch and dinner dining enjoyment, expect only the best at Bill's Pizza and Pub.

The restaurant is famous for its pizza and pizza puffs. Now, a frozen version of these delights can be found in at least 10 local grocery stores.

Stop on in to enjoy the comfortable rustic ambiance or call 566-5380 for delivery or carry-out. Either way, it's delicious and it is just the thing for the holiday kitchen blues.

Car dealer is driving county holiday spirit

by SUZIE REED
Lakeland Newspapers

McKay Mazda, 1121 S. Milwaukee Ave. in Libertyville, is taking advantage of their central location to serve as a collection points for needed items this holiday season.

Owner Scot McKay decided the dealership would be a good drop-off point for a food drive, but he didn't stop there. McKay is also collecting new or like-new clothing and new toys for the needy.

Non-perishable food items will be taken to Christian Outreach for county-wide distribution unless the donor indicates that they are to be given to a specific township pantry. If possible, contributors are asked to bring items in cartons; donations will be stored in an office and periodically taken to Waukegan.

New unwrapped toys will be passed on to Toys for Tots. Clothing will be taken to Libertyville Township for distribution.

Hours for collection are the regular business hours: 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. Monday through Thursday, 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday, and 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday. Donations will be accepted through Dec. 24.

McKay realized that food, clothing and toys are not the only thing needed during the holiday season. The dealership will sponsor a blood drive Dec. 6 beginning at 2 p.m.

The bloodmobile will be furnished by United Blood Services; donors are assured of a safe and sterile environment with disposable equipment.

General guidelines for donating blood are: ages 18 and over (over 80 must have physician's approval), minimum weight 110 pounds, no antibiotics within seven days, and at least eight weeks since the last donation.

For more information call McKay Mazda at 816-3000.

Court sets compromise in Wauconda free speech suit

by SPENCER SCHEIN
Lakeland Newspapers

A court ruling on a controversy at Wauconda Middle School several years ago may affect school districts throughout the midwest and country.

The 7th Circuit U.S. Court of Appeals in Chicago ruled students have the ability to distribute religious materials on school grounds as long as they are self-composed.

The ruling came after Wauconda Unit District 118 officials told Megan Hedges she could not distribute "Issues and Answers," a Christian newspaper at the school with her brother Keith.

The two challenged the school's policy that banned distribution of religious materials by taking the district to court in late 1990.

The case first went to the U.S. District Court in Chicago before being considered more than two years later in the U.S. Court of Appeals.

"It will go a long way to eliminate discrimination of religious speech in public schools," said James Sotos, an attorney representing the Hedges.

"We see it as a victory for free speech advocates and religious advocates," Sotos said.

The court ruled religious materials could be distributed in schools if they were written and composed by the students themselves. Materials written by others could only be passed out at a centralized location in school, such as a table and limited to 10 copies.

The decision upheld parts of a 1991 school district policy which limited distributions of materials written by others.

Stanley Eisenhammer, an attorney representing the school district, said the ruling goes farther by allowing schools to distinguish between student materials and others.

"Schools can adopt this policy which is probably the first of its kind," Eisenhammer said in dealing with third party materials.

wrong, or the caller was wrong. The FDA feels that sodium cassionate and MSG is okay. The food industry is what is causing the health crisis today. Buyer beware. The chemicals in food is creating chemical time bombs. The FDA considers them safe.

Duh is the word

This is to the jerk who said fur is in. I have one word for you, Duh. Fur has been out for years now. Only a stupid moron like you would say something like that.

Best of all worlds

I am calling to say one thing. I am a person who voted to protect the wetlands. I am also a parent who sends my child to parochial school. It is possible to care about both. I am a Christian. Maybe that is the difference.

Poor people can't shop

I am calling about "Disappearing stores." The person must realize that the main reason a major food chain pulls out of an area is because that area is becoming bad. That particular store has done this in the Chicago area, pulling some stores out of the south side. It had nothing to do with the amount of business, but the area they are in and the problems with clients.

The mouths of babes

I agree with "Think about it." I feel that my cat is a member of our family. If someone shot it I don't know what I would do.

No other way

I too do not think I could have an abortion but I think it is not the government's business to make a decision for a woman. Sometimes there just is not any other way.

Go Colts

I want to congratulate the Grayslake Colts featherweight football team for a great season. Thank you for making it an exciting one to watch. We are so proud of you. Go Colts.

Shame on you

I am calling to say that the man who wants the Buddhist to go back to China does not know what this country was founded on. It was founded to foster religious freedom. Our country and county is open and receptive to all religious. The small minded Christian should be ashamed of himself.

Put money where water isn't

I live in Grayslake and there has been a water main break. I finally got through to the police department, who laughed about the fact they did not know how long it would take to fix. This is not the first time we have had a problem. We need to get them fixed. That is where the money should be put.

Man is animal

This is to "Get a pulse." Obviously you have no feelings for the rights of animals. To murder innocent animals for your stupid vanity is wrong. I think you need to get a life. If you had one, then you would not need to kill animals. Only animals wear fur.

Schools benefit all

This is a message I called in when the machine was on the blink. While it may be a little dated, I think it is relevant. I am responding to a caller who thought it was unfair that homeowners without children were required to pay school taxes. Schools benefit an entire society, not just the children in school or their parents. Everyone benefits from young children who are educated. We have to pay attention to the benefits a school provides. Not just to our own families but also to society as a whole and to us because of the benefits of an educated populace. That is what schools are all about.

Editorial note: Dear readers, thanks to all of you who called your messages in again. You know we hate to miss them!

Proven theory

This is to the future Ph.D. who loves Bevis and Butthead. From a parent with many well-behaved honor roll children, there are so many of you child development experts out there. You all contradict each other. Parents should take your note as a prime example of how truly foolish these experts can be.

He's the boss

I would like to leave a message to a guy name Bill who works at Lakeland Newspapers. When I failed to notice the time of the parade in Fox Lake, this guy took time out of his busy day to help me find out the time. Thank you for your great public service.

Loon Lake Landing destroyed by blaze

by ALEC JUNGE
Lakeland Newspapers

The refurbished Loon Lake Landing was gutted by flames and fire investigators are unsure of the cause.

A passing motorist spotted the flames and called the First Fire Protection District of Antioch at 5:51 a.m., Nov. 29. It took until 8:30 a.m. for the flames to be extinguished, according to a spokesman for the Antioch fire district.

"We arrived and the structure was fully involved with fire," the spokesman said. "Flames were coming through the roof."

Antioch was assisted by the departments from Lake Villa, Fox Lake, Round Lake who brought tankers and Grayslake, who manned the Antioch station. Water drawn from Loon Lake helped extinguish the flames, according to the spokesman.

The owners of the restaurant are unsure what they will do with the property as a result of the fire. They are awaiting the results of the investigation, according to Louie Mitchell, general manager.

"We have to wait and see," Mitchell said. "If it is damaged more than 50 percent of the building we have to tear it down."

The spokesman said the investigation is ongoing. He said the department won't release details of the investigation or discuss the cause of the fire until the investigation is completed. He said there should be more information within a week.

Assisting Antioch with the investigation is the State Fire Marshall's office, and Fox Lake.

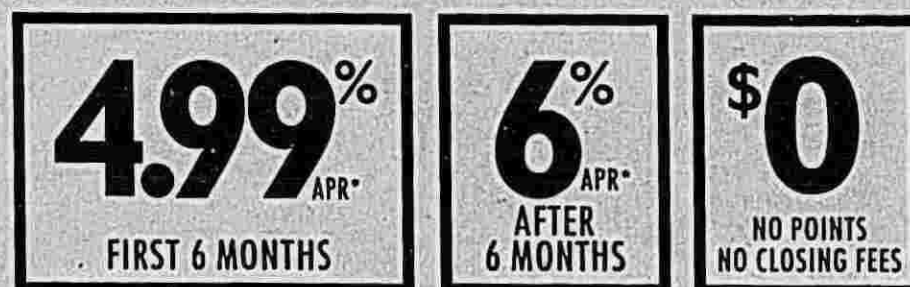

Loon Lake Landing's structure has been there since the 1950s and is somewhat of an area landmark. For many years it was owned by Joe and Helen Sterbenz, who ran a casual restaurant and boat launch. It was refurbished in 1989 and 1990. In the past few years, the business had undergone many changes in management.

Present owner Joel Kennedy took over the restaurant in July of 1993; he expanded the bar area, installed a portable dance floor and redecorated. The restaurant was in the process of expanding its menu and making it more family oriented, according to Robin Jasper, secretary.

Investigators look over the damage in what's left of Loon Lake Landing, a restaurant off Grass Lake Road in unincorporated Antioch. The cause of the fire has not yet been determined.

A home equity loan story of little interest.

Equity Source Account lines of $100,000 or more at 80% loan to value.

When you consider that Citibank is offering the lowest introductory rate on home equity loans in Chicago, this is actually a very exciting story of little interest. An amazing 1.01% below the prime rate for the first six months, to be exact. This means that with the prime rate currently at 6%, its lowest point in over 20 years, you'll pay only 4.99%. After that, your loan goes to the prime rate—and stays there—for the duration of the loan. But you must apply by December 31st, so call today and capitalize on this spectacular offer. All of this adds up to low monthly payments which, when combined with no points, no closing costs and no application fees, comes out to some very cheap money. Citibank also lets you use more of the equity in your home than any other bank when it comes to prime rate home equity loans. And at this rate that means more money and less interest. And your interest may be 100% tax-deductible. To take advantage of this great rate just call a Citibank Loan Specialist at 312-627-3600 ext. 5113, Monday through Friday 8 to 8, Saturday 9 to 3.

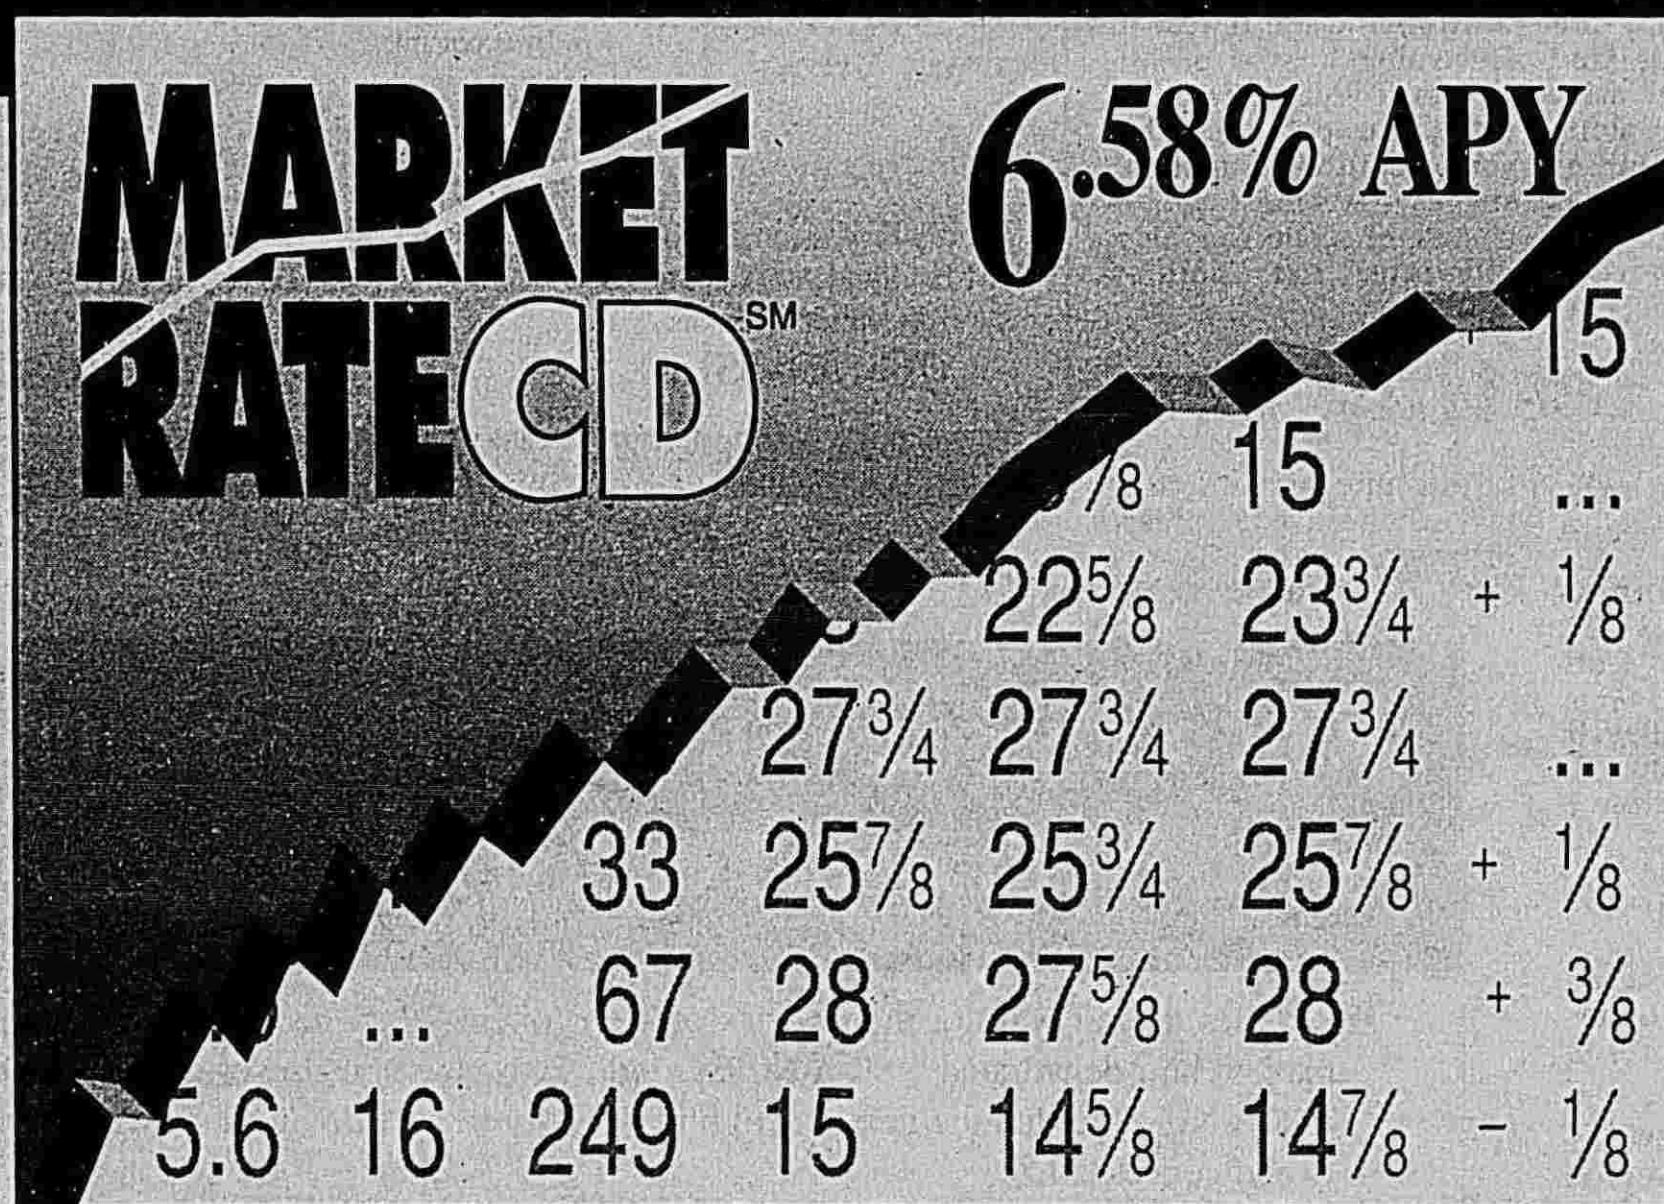

THE CITI NEVER SLEEPS®

*Rates as of 11/11/93. Offer applies to Equity Source Account lines of $100,000 or more on applications received by Citibank from 11/20/93 to 12/31/93. Introductory rate applies for the first six months after the account is opened. Rates may vary and are indexed to the Prime Rate as published on the first business day of each month in the Money Rates section of the Wall Street Journal. Lifetime cap 25%. Annual fee $20. Property insurance may be required. Offer applies to property in, and residents of, Illinois. Consult your tax advisor regarding your personal circumstances.

Introducing the Market Rate CD. Wall Street thrills without Wall Street chills.

6.58% is the Annual Percentage Yield (APY) you would have earned on a two-year deposit maturing on October 23, 1993. APY is based on historic results and is not intended to indicate future yields or results.

The Market's Higher Rate Potential—With Zero Risk To Principal.

If you like a CD's safety and security but find the rates less than exciting, we're offering you a blue chip alternative. A dramatically different two-year CD, one that allows you to go after Wall Street's potentially higher rates without risking your principal.

Here's how it works. You open your two-year account with a $2,000 minimum deposit. At the end of each 52-week period, your interest is calculated based on the average change in the S & P 500® Index* as reported in The Wall Street Journal. And at maturity, you're guaranteed a 100% return of your FDIC-insured initial deposit.

The new Market Rate CD. Now the best way to lock in the market's high earnings potential is with a CD that has no risk to principal. To open yours, call or visit any participating bank office.

Psychologist offers tips for avoiding the blues

"Called the 'best time of the year,' Christmas also can be the worst," explains John Jochem, Psy.D., clinical psychologist and program director of the adult psychiatry unit at Saint Therese Medical Center, Waukegan.

Too many people approach the upcoming holidays with mixed feelings. For some it is a time of family gatherings, presents and wonderful food. For others it is the start of the holiday blues, he adds.

Since it is unlikely the U.S. Surgeon General will place a health warning on holiday celebrations, Jochem offers some practical tips for avoiding or minimizing the holiday blues. "Don't be fooled by the media's portrayal of the holidays as always festive, joyful and frivolous for everyone. By avoiding unrealistic expectations, you may surprise yourself and have a passable time—even enjoyable—at family gatherings."

"Holidays tend to be more stressful because family members typically spend more time with each other. The secure patterns of everyday life are disrupted, so be kind to yourself and set aside some time to be alone even if it means sending the children off somewhere," he notes.

Jochem also advises not dwelling on the past despite the fact that holidays tend to be a time of reminiscing. "Try to live in the present and not be held hostage to painful memories. Often nothing as a grown-up is ever as wonderful as it was when you were six or seven."

Jochem shoots down the myth that there is an increase in suicides and suicide attempts in December. "That just is not true—the National Center for Health Statistics states that more suicides occur in April and the fewest in December."

But if you really don't think you can face this year's holidays, Jochem suggests leaving town. A change of scene can help alleviate the holiday blues.

Cancer Society plans holiday fundraiser

The American Cancer Society's Lake County Unit has officially kicked off plans for its Third Annual Poinsettia Ball.

"We are in the holiday spirit and looking forward to another successful fundraiser," said Carrol Working, ball chairman. "Last year, we raised over $25,000 for use right here in Lake County and we intend to surpass that amount this year."

With a goal to raise $30,000, the Poinsettia Ball Committee is busily preparing for the event which is scheduled for Dec. 4. As in the previous two years, the ball will be held at the Ivanhoe Country Club.

La Leche sets meeting

The Libertyville North Chapter of La Leche League International will meet at 9:45 a.m. on Dec. 8, at the office of Homefirst Family Practice, 730 N. Milwaukee Avenue (Route 21), Libertyville, just north of the commuter rail tracks. The office is on the east side of

EHS Home Health Care to add Hospice services

EHS Oak Brook-based Home Health Care Service will add hospice services starting in the first quarter of 1994.

"Our hospice services will provide care for the terminally ill that allows them to maximize the quality of their remaining life," said Lloyd Dean, the company's president, in making the announcement.

"What makes EHS' hospice care unique is its approach to providing a complete continuum of care," said Dean. "We will be able to meet needs of our patients not only for hospice care but also for highly specialized home health care such as home infusion services and acute care without bringing in an outside company."

Dean emphasized that EHS Home Health Care Service, which is related to the United Church of Christ through its parent company, EHS Health Care, will focus on caring for the whole patient—body, mind and spirit.

The new hospice services are being started at the request of the five EHS Health Care hospitals which want to provide for continuity of care for terminally ill patients. Previously, such patients had to be discharged to non-EHS Health Care companies.

"Hospice care is provided by a team of caregivers who include physicians, nurses, social workers, chaplains, home health aides and trained volunteers. Together, they provide care and support for the patient and family as they face a terminal illness," he says. In addition, the hospice will provide bereavement support for the family.

EHS Home Health Care Service is the largest home health care company in the Chicago area. It made 96,000 patient visits in 1992 and expects to reach 130,000 visits this year, a 35 percent increase. The home health care company provides skilled nursing services; infusion therapy services and pharmaceuticals; physical, occupational and speech therapies; home health aides; durable medical equipment and prenatal services.

The home health care company is part of EHS Health Care, one of the largest health care organizations in the Chicago area. It owns five hospitals with more than 1,800 beds, skilled nursing facilities, outpatient centers, physician office buildings and a mental health counseling service.

The Best of Times & the Worst of Times: Coping with Holiday Depression

Join us for the Life Skills Series of lectures on issues facing people in today's world. These educational lectures are free, and so is the parking! Refreshments provided.

Wednesday, December 8, 1993 7-8 p.m.

Presented by:

John D. Jochem, Psy.D.
Staff Psychologist
Saint Therese Medical Center

If you watch special holiday programs on TV, pass displays of wonderful gifts in the stores or constantly see ads that show perfect family gatherings—you may wonder, "Am I as happy as everyone else seems to be?"

Drop the "shoulds" this year and approach the holidays in a realistic, satisfying way.

- Learn to tune out the hype and focus on the real.
- Create the pace that's best for you, despite the high activity level.
- Concentrate on the present even though reminiscing comes with the season.

Dr. Jochem is a clinical psychologist on the staff of Saint Therese Medical Center, where he is Program Director of Adult Psychiatry. Dr. Jochem is affiliated with Lake-Cook Psychologists and practices in Waukegan and Libertyville.

Griefnotes

What can we do when an infant dies at birth?

Include the mother in all plans! It is a common mistake to try to spare a mother by removing the baby immediately. Mothers have known their child for nine months and are extremely attached. Mothers and fathers should take the opportunity to be with their child and, if possible, hold the child. Following the mother's release from the hospital a ceremony with the baby present should be held with burial or cremation to follow. If for some reason the mother cannot leave the hospital consider having the ceremony in the hospital chapel. Friends should visit and allow the grieving parents to discuss their disappointment and grief.

Every week, we have a special spot in our newspaper that's exactly right for that item you want to sell. If you tell us to run an ad for a car you no longer need, we place it in our CARS FOR SALE classification (No. 80). Want to buy or sell a horse? Your ad goes in classification No. 42. Why do we do it this way? Because it's easier for our readers (your customers) to find your ad. No long search, no missing your sailboat ad because it's mixed in with rummage sales. The next time you want to turn a no-longer needed item into cash, give the Lakeland Newspapers a try. You'll be in the right place.

How To Survive The Job Search
By Nancy Sakol

Q: Dear...Search: In a recent interview it was told to me by the interviewer that I have a very long resumé. Can you give me some advice on what to include and what to leave out when rewriting a new one? S.R.
A: Dear S.R. This question is most often asked. A resumé should contain the following:
• Your name, current address, area code and telephone number
• An objective describing briefly the position you are looking to obtain
• Your work experience beginning with your most recent employer and a brief description of job title and responsibilities
• Your education and any additional training or seminars relative to your work experience
• Indicate references to be furnished upon request
• Do not include personal information such as height, weight, date of birth as these do not belong in a resumé
• Listing hobbies and outside interests is not necessary
Keep in mind when preparing your resumé that "less is more", meaning not to go into so much detail that your resumé reads like a book. It may give the appearance that you were fishing for things to say. Stick to the facts. Allow the resumé recipient to become intrigued by what they see on paper, thus wanting to meet and speak with you directly. If the resumé reads long and drawn out, you may lose the attention of the reader.
The final word of advice: Proofread, proofread and proofread again. A resumé with errors is not well regarded.
Your local library can provide you with numerous books on resumé writing. Find an outline that best suits you...and go for it.
Note: Nancy Sakol is a licensed personnel professional and President of Superior Personnel in Gurnee. Letters can be sent to Nancy at 5101 Washington St., Gurnee, IL 60031.

Christmas Tree Directory

Real trees: The environmental choice

In this age of great environmental concerns, the choice is simple—a real Christmas tree.

By choosing a real Christmas tree over a fake tree for your holiday celebration, you're making an environmentally sound choice.

Real Christmas trees are an all-American, recyclable resource. Artificial trees, most of which are manufactured in Korea, Taiwan or Hong Kong, consist of non-biodegradable plastics and metals.

Real Christmas trees remove excessive carbon dioxide and other gases from the atmosphere, delaying the earth-warming "greenhouse effect" and producing fresh oxygen.

One acre of Christmas trees produces the daily oxygen requirement for 18 people. With approximately one million acres producing Christmas trees in the U.S., that translates into oxygen for 18 million people every day.

IT'S BEGINNING TO LOOK A LOT LIKE CHRISTMAS!

Christensen's dilemma brings focus to motivation

Dale Christensen

by STEVE PETERSON
Lakeland Newspapers

"Motivation - the act or process of motivating; the condition of being motivated; a motivating force, stimulus, or influence."

That is how Webster's defines motivation, a challenge for all high school sports coaches.

Motivation is a key word in Lake County sports this week as the sports world is still reeling over the verbal resignation of Libertyville football coach Dale Christensen. The resignation followed Christensen's staged shooting during a make-belief altercation. The incident was an effort to motivate the Wildcats before a Class 6A playoff loss to Loyola.

"I can only comment as a coach. We do many things to try to motivate kids. In today's society, there is a constant game to keep them up with other things going on. Dale is constantly looking to use gimmicks to motivate kids. He might have gotten caught up in that," Warren football Coach Reggie Hughes said.

Hughes is among the county football coaches who would support Christensen getting a second chance to return to the LHS sidelines next year.

Hughes watched Loyola's subsequent 7-0 win over Downers Grove South in the Class 6A title game. "I think the best Class 6A game was the Libertyville-Loyola game," Hughes said.

"Dale has done a lot for football in the county, state and for Libertyville. He is a great coach and has done a lot of positive things over the years. He should get another chance after things cool down," Hughes said.

After Libertyville's 27-14 loss to Loyola Academy, Hughes said the Wildcats' poor start, a 21-0 deficit, could be attributable to the pre-game confusion.

Another point raised by Hughes and others: What would have happened if the incident took place, and Libertyville won the game and played in the title contest at Illinois State University.

Motivation was a watchword as coaches from winter sports started their season the past 10 days.

Grant boys basketball coach Tom Maple has logged 17 seasons as head coach at the Fox Lake program, and his team is defending Northwest Suburban Conference champs.

"We still have a corner on the market," he said of motivation.

"I use a whole and part approach. We remind them at the start of the season what the goals are and have short-term goals which in terms of time-outs or this quarter," Maple said.

He saves his big pep talks for "four or five big games a year or a motivational technique at halftime," he said.

Paul Missavage, Grayslake girls new basketball coach, has coached and played in Belgium and Arlington Heights.

"I let them know I am sincere. The kids pick up on that. I also make it so they can have some fun. They have a certain respect for it and want to be coached," Missavage said.

Even when his team was trailing by 30 points at halftime in a game against Warren, Mundelein girls coach Rick Foss did not hit lockers or slam clipboards.

"You look at the chemistry of the team and appeal to the pride aspect. The kids are too sophisticated for the fiery speech. You do far more good teaching and discussing," Foss, a former football playoff coach, said.

"After two weeks of practice, the players are ready to play. It is in the second round motivation becomes a factor," Lake Zurich boys basketball Coach Doug Cook said.

"I motivate by talking about the hard work they are putting in and remind them it is for the moment. Every kid gets 'up' in his own way. Some kids get psyched up, others are as calm as can be," Warren High wrestling coach Mark Tiffany said.

Coaches trying to motivate 17- and 18-year-olds can sometimes lead to humorous situations.

"I thought it was hollow behind a chalkboard and hit my hand against it. It turned out to be a concrete wall. Coach (Mike) Kunkle had to take over the halftime talk. I was suffering until baseball season. Every time I would throw or swing all I could think about was how dumb that was," Hughes recalls.

Warren's Kohn and Woods star as coach gains 1st 'W'

Fans attending the Warren-Carmel boys basketball game Saturday night saw two contests for the price of one.

Both results, the Chris Kohn Show in the first half and the Jeff Woods extravaganza in the second, were beneficial to the host Blue Devils, who came away with a 60-59 win.

Both teams finished 1-2 in the tourney. Carmel begins East Suburban Catholic play Dec. 3 by hosting St. Viator at 7:30 p.m. Warren is scheduled to battle North Chicago Dec. 4 away, but will likely next face Antioch away Dec. 10 due to the North Chicago teachers' strike.

Kohn scored 13 points on the basis of three three-pointers and Woods had 18. Joe Bongratz added 13 for the winners.

The win was the first for new Warren Coach Chuck Ramsey after losses to eventual champ Waukegan and 60-49 to Fremd.

Warren has plenty of areas to improve on, according to Ramsey, but the Blue Devils are 1-0 in games decided in the final 10 seconds. Their rebounding advantage came to light as they won that category by eight.

Ramsey said Woods, a standout transfer from Antioch, may have been pressing the first two games.

"This is a great win going into the conference. We need it. People are not expecting much from us, but we can surprise people," Kohn said.

Kohn showed his three-point shooting ability in a loss to Fremd. He scored nine of his 15 points from long range. Bongratz added 15 and Woods, coming off a six-point outing against Waukegan, had 11.

"Woods is a good player. I expected him to play better than we had the first two games," Ramsey said.

Warren did not score for the final 2:16, as Woods' lay-up gave the Blue Devils a seven-point lead and a better than 50 percent shooting night from the field.

Carmel missed three shots and two free throws, before leading scorer Rick Koseor (15 points) notched a free throw with 29 seconds left.

"Koseor had a great tournament," Carmel Coach Ben Berg said.

Carmel had the ball out-of-bounds under the Warren basket with three seconds left, but could not hit the game-tying three pointer. Brian Savage (13 points) hit a two-point basket.

Like Warren, the Corsairs are not a pre-season favorite when league play begins. Although not thrilled with a 1-2 record, rookie coach Berg saw some positives to build on.

"We will have to play more physical and step up our defensive rebounding," he said.

Koseor netted nine points against Fremd in a losing effort. Dan Stasiek, held to three points by Warren, scored 19 against Fremd.

Carmel had the early lead in a give-and-take first quarter. Both teams pressed.

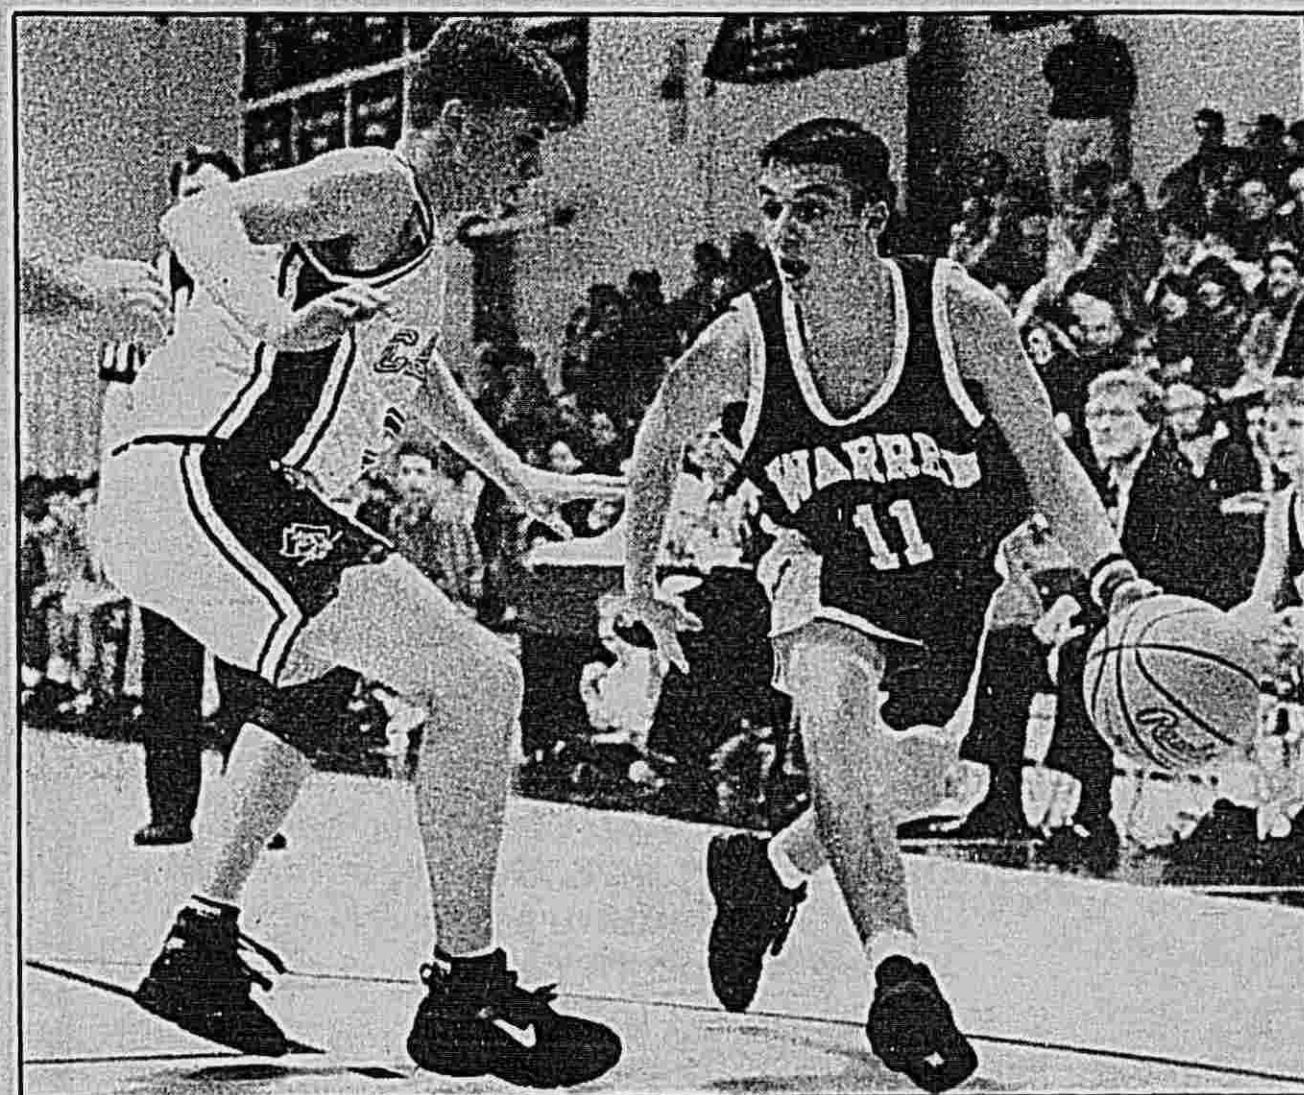

"I thought they really handled our pressure well," Berg said.

A lay-up by Koseor, a six-foot, one-inch senior guard, gave CHS a one-point lead after one.

Warren had the hot hand in the second quarter. Dan Ulvila's inside move after two free throws gave the home team a 29-22 lead. Carmel rallied in the final two minutes for a halftime tie.

A basket by Jeff Weir ended a stretch in which Warren dominated the fourth quarter and zoomed to a seven-point lead.

Scharlau shines in Lancer win

College of Lake County's Amy Scharlau made her presence known as she scored in double digits in three games last week.

The Lancers earned a 54-48 win over Harper in the Harper Thanksgiving tourney, sandwiched around losses to Joliet and McHenry.

CLC hosts Rock Valley at 1 p.m. Dec. 4 in a Parents Day game.

"Amy had an outstanding game all around. She is handling the ball well and her quickness on defense gets her rebounds," CLC Coach Don Zeman said.

Scharlau, a freshman from Wauconda, had 13 points, eight rebounds and four assists in CLC's win. She had 19 points in a 55-52 loss to Joliet and 14 points in a 73-46 loss to McHenry.

Another ex-Bulldog, Heather Ford, hit double figures against Harper with 11 and Vicki Nelson had 11.

"We had pretty good balance. Julie Frankowski and Christy Zink had all their points on offensive rebounds," Zeman said.

CLC led Harper 27-22 at halftime.

CLC (1-3) was also competitive at the half, down by four, against McHenry, before McHenry dominated the second half.

"For the first three games and at half-time of the McHenry game, I would say we made steady progress. We just have to put the blowout out of our minds," Zeman said.

Patriot girls best local powers

Stevenson High School's girls basketball team picked up right where it left off in tourney play by crushing Zion-Benton in the North Suburban Conference action.

The Patriots used a 19-5 first quarter run to put the game away early.

Senior Denise Mall had nine points including a three-pointer.

The Pats showed their depth as all players played.

The team continues play in the Maine West Classic tourney Dec. 3 and 4, 6:30 p.m. against Washington Dec. 3 and 6 p.m. Dec. 4 against Lincoln Way.

The Pats knocked off mighty Maine West as part of a 4-0 tourney start.

Saturday Tauja Catchings scored 24 points as the Pats pulled away in the closing minutes for a 64-57 win over York. Tamika Catchings added 20 points and had 15 rebounds.

CLC runner Johnson ends career with national title

A College of Lake County runner came home with the top trophy at the NJCAA junior college national meet.

Kim Johnson, of Zion, completed the course in 19:15.7, topping the second-place finisher, Que Harbor, who ran the Phoenix course in 19:21.5.

"Kim was able to stay with Que the whole time and pulled away the last 400 yards," CLC Coach Karen Graham said.

"I wanted to stay with the front pack. I came up and they let me take charge,"

Johnson said.

Johnson ran at University of Wisconsin-Parkside last year and had set numerous records for the Lancers this fall. She set the CLC course record in 18:32.

CLC won the Skyway Conference title.

Johnson enrolled at CLC at the last minute due to a mix-up with her scholarship. She had ran cross country at Zion-Benton, where she was a state qualifier.

"She has been a strong finisher and a consistent leader," Graham said of the sophomore.

Eckenstahler leads ACHS to two-for-three beginning

by STEVE PETERSON
Lakeland Newspapers

Antioch High boys basketball standout Eric Eckenstahler walked without a limp onto the basketball court at Antioch High Monday.

That was good news for the Sequoit faithful, who are hoping the six-foot, seven-inch senior continues the pace he set in the Woodstock Thanksgiving tournament. Eckenstahler played in two of the three Antioch contests after spraining an ankle the day before the tourney. He scored 44 points and blocked 12 shots as Antioch downed Marian Central 61-58 and Woodstock 59-57. He was named all-tournament. Antioch had started the season with a 60-47 loss to Rockford Jefferson.

"I feel 100 percent now," Eckenstahler said. "It is a recurring injury. It happened the last five minutes of practice. I wanted to play the first game. It hurt not to play," Eckenstahler said.

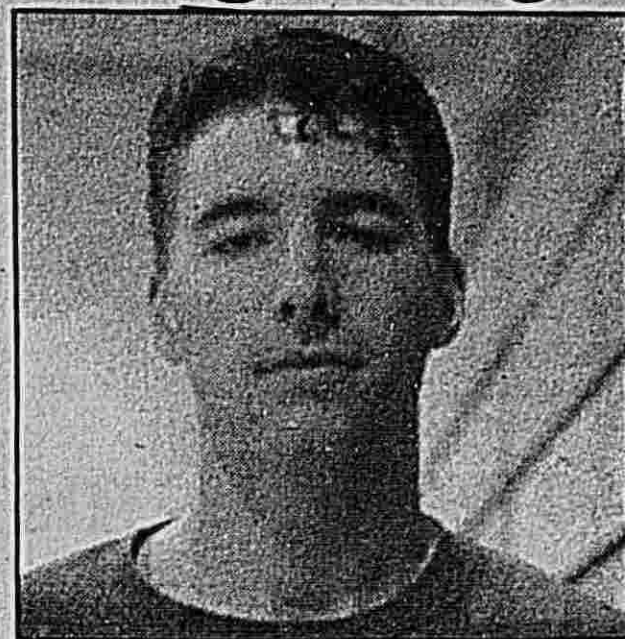

The junior hit the winning lay-up in the nail-biter over Woodstock. The Sequoits lost a shot at the title because Woodstock had more free throws.

The senior Eckenstahler showed shot blocking as an art form. He had seven in the win over Marian, five in the Woodstock game.

"Height is a big key and I definitely have long arms. When people come inside, I do not want them to have an easy shot. I try and make them move back. Many pulled up and shot from 15 feet instead of going more inside," Eckenstahler said.

Eckenstahler's final two of his 25 points were the most important against the Blue Streaks. "It was a perfect play. Coach (Jeff Dresser) designed a play and I got a beautiful pass from Dave Smith. I did not expect to be that open," Eckenstahler said.

Dresser is pleased with his forces heading into the Dec. 3 North Suburban Conference opener against Fenton. The Sequoits are at NSC pre-season favorite

Eric Eckenstahler

Libertyville Dec. 4. Both are 7:30 p.m. games.

"I thought we gained a lot of confidence," Dresser said of the Woodstock tourney.

"Eckenstahler brings blocked shots and he intimidates people inside. He can also hit from the outside, too," Dresser said.

Indeed, Eckenstahler was a state qualifier in the three-point shot competition last year.

Eckenstahler was the only Sequoit to score in double figures against Woodstock, but Antioch had more weapons against Marian Central. Dave Johnson had nine points, including the game-winning free throws with 13 seconds left. Marian led at one point 22-9.

Eckenstahler scored eight of Antioch's 14 fourth-quarter points. Dave Smith, a 5-11 senior guard, "came off the bench and gave us a lift offensively and defensively," Dresser said.

Dave Johnson had a block and six rebounds against Woodstock.

The 2-1 Sequoits vow to be ready for the much touted Wildcats and also Fenton. "It makes you work harder in practice," Eckenstahler said of Libertyville.

Gooch leads girls to third

by STEVE PETERSON
Lakeland Newspapers

Antioch High's girls basketball team used a solid defensive effort to notch a third-place finish at the Dundee-Crown tournament, but fell in the North Suburban Conference opener.

Leading the way for the 2-4 Sequoits so far this season has been Maline Gooch. The senior has scored 13 in a 41-30 loss to Fenton in the North Suburban opener, 13 in a 49-40 loss to Dundee-Crown and 16 in a 42-29 win over Addison Trail.

"Malene's consistency has been right there. And she rebounds real well. Unfortunately, the other girls rely a little too much on her," Antioch Coach Dave Woods said.

The Sequoits assignments certainly do not get any easier. They travel to Libertyville Dec. 3 to face the state-ranked Wildcats. All Libertyville did was win a Thanksgiving tournament and clobber Mundelein 78-42 in its conference opener Tuesday.

Fenton's zone defense gave the Sequoits fits Tuesday.

"They packed in that zone and no one wanted to step in and take the shot," Woods said.

The Sequoits have three offenses against the zone. "We had our opportunities, but did not take advantage of it. We panicked. We worked on squaring up to the basket, getting yourself ready to shoot. I saw a lot of positives," Woods said.

Antioch led 20-19 at half-time but only managed four third-quarter points as Fenton led 31-29. The Bison increased the margin to nine five minutes into the fourth quarter.

Amy Leiber finished with nine points and 10 rebounds for Antioch. "Leiber had a solid game," Woods said.

Artlet's last-second heroics lifts Rams girls to first 'W'

by STEVE PETERSON
Lakeland Newspapers

Grayslake High's girls basketball team executed strategy to perfection and came home with a thrilling win at Round Lake Tuesday.

"That was my philosophy, to send them to the free-throw line. We wore them out," Grayslake Coach Paul Missavage said.

The Panthers made only 9 of 16 free throws in the fourth quarter, 11 for 24 for the game as the Rams prevailed 42-40. The win was Missavage's first as head coach.

Grayslake, (1-4 overall, 1-0 Northwest Suburban) won on a balanced scoring attack. Sophomore Amy Artlet was one of three eight-point contributors.

The most important was the last two with three seconds left to win the game.

"Jennie (Dunbar) kicked it out to her along the baseline," Missavage said.

Junior Julie Duchane led the winners with nine points and six rebounds. She was coming off a 16-point outing against McHenry.

Round Lake, (4-4 overall,

0-1 NWSC), was led by 24 points from Felicia Sartin but no one else scored in double figures.

"We played good man-to-man defense until the last two minutes when we went to a zone," Missavage said.

Round Lake led 10-6 after one, but Grayslake won the second quarter 12-7.

"It will motivate us to try to be champions,"

Missavage said.

"It came down to them playing exceptionally well and we did not play a good game. We had far too many turnovers, but give them credit," Round Lake Coach Gary Edge said.

The Rams host Wauconda at 7 p.m. Dec. 6. Round Lake hosts Marian Central Dec. 6 at 7 p.m.

The Panthers finished 3-2 in then tournament at Deerfield. Following a loss to Palatine Fremd, the Panthers downed Leyden 47-27. Sartin led the way with 20 points. A 15-3 third quarter run was the key for Round Lake.

Simeon downed Round Lake 52-46, as the Panthers settled for third place. Sartin scored 17 points and Karen Minkalis had 12.

Power claims victory, 5-0, Blitz downed in 4-3 game

The U-15 Blitz faced Thunder and Lightning from La Grange and lost 4-3. After playing a listless first half of soccer, the Blitz found themselves trailing 3-0. After regrouping at half-time the Blitz came out much more intense. Stacie Morley then split two defenders and scored on the breakaway. The Thunder and Lightning answered with a goal before Jillian Denoma scored on a direct kick with a perfectly placed shot. Moments later Katie Hoskins scored the third goal for the Blitz with the assist going to Sondra Lorang. With time running out the Blitz put on a surge but couldn't put one in the net. Other strong performances were had by Kris Julian, Stacey Alberts and Nicki Kral. The Blitz are now 1-2 for the season. All their games are played at Poplar Creek Sports Center.

The U-13 Power notched their first victory in dominating fashion with a 5-0 win over the Trevians.

Jenny Barbera and Kristina Giangiorgi combined in goal for the Trevians shut-out. The Power fought off a strong second half push by the Trevians to preserve the win. Jamie Wismer led the scoring with three goals. Kristina Giangiorgi and Tracie Foster had one each. Assists were given to Jenny Barbera, Maureen Moran, Tracie Foster, and Kristina Giangiorgi. The Power improves their record at 1-2. All their games are played at Soccer Enterprises-Highland Park.

Due to the Thanksgiving holiday the U-19 Enigma did not play.

Royal Eagles prevail again

The Lindenhurst Royal Eagles Under-10 soccer team prevailed 5-2 over a tough Lincolnshire team in its second match of the indoor season. The game was evenly played during the first half, with Eagles goalkeeper Matt Boller making several key saves.

David Calvert and Adam

Placko each put one in the Lincolnshire net and the Eagles held a 2-1 half-time lead. After an "own goal" mishap by the Lindenhurst defense tied the score early in the second half, the Eagles went on the offensive. Kaleb Barrett, Erik Carlberg, Ramesh Kumar and Nate Rimkus led the attack with aggressive play and good passing off the boards. Tom Woodruff, Kevin Mark and Placko scored in succession for the Eagles and Michael Persman played solidly in goal. Assists were credited to Kevin Mathewson, Brian Halvey and Barrett.

Antioch soph Dyer wins 1st

A sophomore is off to a good start as an Antioch High wrestler.

Lucas Dyer won by a fall against Conant at 103 pounds.

Other winners for Antioch were Steve Zalopi by fall at 125 pounds and Jason Krause, a junior, by decision at 130.

The Sequoits lost the meet 37-15.

"We wrestled tough. We were up 15-6 and we had a lot of close ones at the end," Antioch Coach Ted Sieckowski said.

Antioch begins North Suburban Conference matches Dec. 3 when they host Lake Forest at 7:30 p.m. The Sequoits finished second in the NSC last year.

Then it is off to the Stag tournament in Palos Hills Dec. 4.

"I'd say, if we place in the top six of 12 teams it will be a success. The competition at Stag has gotten tougher and tougher. There are four or five state-ranked teams," first-year coach Sieckowski said.

PET PARADE

Tattooing—New way in aiding your dogs return

Dog theft is big business in this country: it's estimated that it affects two million families annually. In many states, animal dealers may legally seize unclaimed pets from shelters and pounds and sell them to research facilities.

However, in states where this is illegal or when labs need large numbers of dogs of a particular breed, unscrupulous dealers may resort to stealing canines from backyards and cars, or anywhere dogs are left unattended. If stolen pets aren't sold to labs, they may be used in dog fighting. They may be sacrificial sparring partners for hardened canine competitors, or they may be brutalized into becoming vicious combatants.

Other uses motivating canine theft include breeding, cult sacrifices, and guard dogs. There are even cases of pets being held for ransom.

While every dog should have a tag bearing its call name and owner's name, address and phone number attached to its collar, this form of identification may be sorely inadequate if a canine is stolen or lost. Collars can slip off or be removed deliberately.

Other than being careful of where they leave their dogs, the best form of protection owners can provide their pets is permanent identification—a tattoo. A tattoo indicates that the dog bearing it is someone's pet; when the number is recorded with a tattoo registry, it offers an effective way of tracing the owner. Tattoos also provide a means of positive identification, and allow owners to prove absolute ownership if necessary.

Tattoos are created by depositing ink of non-reactive, insoluble pigments, safe for use on canine tissue, just below the surface of the skin. Black or green ink is used. The former is easily read on light complexioned canines while the latter shows up well on those with either light or dark skin tones. Application takes about 10 minutes. Once applied, a tattoo lasts for the life of the dog.

The most frequently used instrument for pet tattooing is the vibrator tattooer. It looks like an electric pencil and is almost identical to those used to apply tattoos to humans. Each contains a bundle of five to 10 needles. The bundle moves up and down at high speed, piercing the top layer of skin. This creates a pattern of hundreds of tiny holes into which ink is deposited to form the tattoo.

BC Dog Training offers tattooing at tattoo clinics for $25. The tattoo is placed on one of the upper rear thighs of the dog as close to the belly as

Tattooing

No anesthesia is used at our tattoo clinics. The procedure is only slightly uncomfortable and most dogs object to the noise made by the equipment more than anything. Some do squirm or whine a bit, so we do restrain them physically during the application.

The numbers and letters used—again as explained in the above mentioned article—are unique to your dog. The registry (Tattoo-A-Pet) keeps a permanent computer record of the identification number, along with the owner's name, address and phone number, the telephone and address of a close relative or friend of the owner, and a description of the dog.

The registration of the tattoo number facilitates the tracing process. Ideally, things happen like this: 1. A dog is found. 2. It's tattoo is seen. 3 The registry is contacted. 4. The owner is traced. 5. The canine is returned home.

The reasons the following personal identification numbers are not recommended are:

1. Social Security—they are confidential and federally assigned. Government agencies won't release information on the identity of any individual assigned a number. If the number is not registered with a tattoo registry, the tattoo is useless.

2. American Kennel Club Registration Numbers—The AKC will not release any information regarding owner identity. Its customer service department contacts the owner by phone the same day. If it's unable to reach the owner, it sends a mailgram the same day. Keep in mind that this is not the main focus of the AKC so follow-up does not exist.

3. Driver's License Number—A police officer could recognize one and run it through the department's computer for owner information. But, the police departments don't have the time or staff to participate in owner tracing.

Prefacing a tattoo number with a state coding (the case with the Tattoo-A-Pet number) is also helpful because animals stolen by unscrupulous dealers may travel thousands of miles to a holding place before being sold. The abbreviation of the state in which the owner resides narrows the area from which a dog was lost or stolen and facilitates the tracing process.

The following are some general guidelines for helping dog owners achieve the maximum protective potential from tattoo identification.

•All tattoo numbers should be recorded with a tattoo registry.

•Owners should keep their registry up-to-date regarding changes in their personal information or transfers in ownership.

•Owners should contact their registry immediately if their dog disappears. This allows the organization to pull the pet's records and have them on hand.

•Canines should be tattooed on the inner flank of a rear leg or on the belly. Thieves don't hesitate to cut off a tattooed ear if it eliminates the possibility of identification.

•Tattoos should be checked every few months of legibility. Substantial weight gain or loss can make them unreadable.

Ask to see the tattoos on our dogs—as the saying goes, "The proof of the pudding..." We believe!—by CATHIE SABIN, B.C. Dog Training
